

A Brief Comment to "With All Due Respect", Kim et alia

By Anna Von Reitz

Of course, Kim thinks she is fine --- except in those dim moments of confusion when she notices that she is doing things that she doesn't actually want to do, and equally, can't do what she says she desires to do.

The victims are never told. They are left to think that they have been "sick" or had an "accident" of some kind, and they were in the hospital, but everything is just fine now. .

She doesn't know she has been hijacked. None of the victims know that they are victims. If they did, they might--- conceivably --- seek help. They are ultimately helpless, because they can be ordered to self-destruct, but their loved ones might even bring a criminal complaint or find a way to sue the complicit institutions (MIT, CIT, DARPA, IAG..... the list goes on) out of existence.

Anyone who has been "modified" allows other entities to play them like a piano, to direct them to do things that are reprehensible and not do things that are in accord with their own verbally expressed desires. They are no longer in control. The computer interface is in control.

The computer operator can tell the victim to self-destruct, or to take a gun into a restaurant and kill people. It can tell the victim to eat dog crap, and despite how repulsive this is to every other nerve in their sensory array, even though they know better, they will do it and not be able to explain why.

Any such act of debasement and depravity can be compelled by bypassing the neural condition network we associate with conscience and self.

The absence of such instruction in no way implies that the ability to give such instructions is impaired. It simply isn't in line with the purposes of the perpetrators to give such instructions---but they could.

The hospitals are turning out to be the nerve centers and points of genesis for the whole Kingdom of Evil.

It is the Undeclared Uniformed Officers -- doctors, dentists, chiropractors, nurses -- conscripted under Title 37 of the Territorial United States Code who have been tasked to register babies as property, and it is the same crew tasked to install "chips" in our neural networks and expose us to nanobots which interfere with everything from nerve impulses and heartbeats to hormone balances.

It's all there, on display, at the US Patent and Trademark Office. Or if it isn't, thanks to Serco's attempts to scrub the place, we already have copies and they are properly distributed.....so, they can all try to tell us another Whopper and try to explain the Observed Phenomena ----but it won't work.

We have the goods.

People like Kim are being used as human storefronts just like the vermin used the Roman Catholic Church as a storefront. Just like H.I.G. is using Compass, PLC, as a storefront. Just as the Office of the United States Attorney General used the Wells Fargo Securities Division acting behind the storefront of the old "Wells Fargo Bank" trademark.

The most innocent, kindest people alive can be turned into assassins and high order criminals for the cost of some silicon chips and a tricky, but far from impossible surgical procedure.

And the victims take the blame if they get caught.

Kim recently said that she was "blessed" ---- and that perhaps more than anything else displays the diabolical nature of the evil we are facing, when a blessing from Marduk, the King of Darkness, can be counted as anything but a curse.

We are in the process of shutting down the AI operations that use human control interfaces, and finding medical centers and surgeons competent to remove the computer interface devices and also finding ways to disarm the harmful nanobots.

This protection racket for evil in the name of science is coming to an end.

Kim and others like her may never be completely themselves and completely healed. It's too early to know, but we can hope and we can pray and we can extend love to her and other victims of this heinous transgression against us --- all of us.
