

International Public Notice: The Nature of Our Bilateral Banking System

By Anna Von Reitz

A rumor has been started that our Bilateral Banking System is "Christian" but in fact, our Bilateral Banking System is not religious or even philosophical. There is nothing dependent on belief here. All is factual.

Certainly, the fundamental character of love underlying the effort is in sympathy with the true teachings of Yeshuah, but also with Buddha, and the teachings of many other individual traditions.

Many Christians may be drawn to us and our banking system, simply because it is centered on love and love of life, in tune with abundance, and freedom. That doesn't mean that it is peculiarly or only Christian.

Anyone, anywhere, coming from any religious or cultural background, can choose life and choose love. Anyone can be attuned to the joy of Nature and Creation.

That's what we are saying and that's what we are promoting and to the best of our ability, that is what we are delivering, day by day and hour by hour.

Are you tired of living in fear of your own government? Are you ready for something completely different? Tired of being poor? Tired of being dependent? Tired of being lied to?

Here we are!

Imagine a man pushing in on a door that swings out.

Too many of us have lived and died, generation unto generation, saying that we want peace and justice, we want an end to violence, we want cruelty to end, we want our little piece of paradise, we want fresh clean water and fertile ground, we want to be secure in our homes no matter how humble, we want to express the interests and skills and joys in our hearts, we want to live healthy lives, and we want this for all mankind.

So what's stopping us?

We've been pushing in on a door that swings out.

If we want peace, we cannot pay for war. If we want plenty, we cannot accept scarcity. If we want an end to violence, we must turn our own backs on it. If we want freedom for ourselves, we cannot allow the enslavement of anyone else. If we want justice, we can't let criminals run our courts. We know this, and yet, by focusing on what we don't want, we create more of it.

So let's give our full attention to what we do want, and begin not with sophomoric daydreams, but with actions that drown out words and give force and life to what we do want.

Banking and money have been used to enslave countless generations; if you are done with this evil, if you see it for the shell game it is, join us.

We built the Bilateral Banking System in attunement with natural harmony. We stopped pushing and started pulling -- together.

We have a choice. Let's choose to build our world and be done with the haters and war-mongers, murderers, and thieves. The Bilateral Banking System is built to serve your needs now, and ultimately, to set you free from the delusions and necessities of money.

We are called to put an end to ignorant idolatry, hypocrisy, graven images, enslavement, delusions, and greed. A brand new world is beckoning. Let it begin!
