

Blind Greed

By Anna Von Reitz

I have a Labrador Retriever, now very long in tooth for a Labrador Retriever, who has been a perfect gentleman his entire life, except for one fault. He is a glutton.

Since puppyhood, he has been first and last at the food bowl, eating as fast as he can, as much as he can. He is, when it comes to food, the epitome of Blind Greed.

There are many people afflicted by the same character fault and impulse.

If they see "money" --- even if it is debt notes issued against their own assets -- they can't help themselves. They are nose up to the trough and going for it as fast as they can, without a second thought. Oh, yum, yum, yummmmm!

Arbitration award? Did someone say, "Arbitration award"?

Now, don't get me wrong. Thanks to the total mismanagement of the world economy by governmental services corporations operated by the Popes and the Queens and Kings for their own greed and other nefarious purposes, there are a good many people who are severely malnourished both physically and spiritually. They have been ground down by years of deprivation and they can be easily forgiven for rushing toward any source of "food" whatsoever.

Nonetheless, it behooves all of us to look around the corners and see what is really going on here.

Two or three years ago, I happened to have a conversation with a senior government consultant to the Department of Administration. His specialty was and is, accounting. So I brought up the little matter of the National Credit owed to Americans. After several exchanges bringing forward the obvious fact that there is an answering credit for every debt in a debt-credit system, the light bulbs went off and he scurried on with his business.

I hoped that he might do something good with the information. Silly me. Last Friday, I found out what he did with the insight I offered him.

He did the Glutton Thing and worked very hard to figure out a way to "get him some" and joined forces with Senior Flag Officers also intent on "getting them some" and they then went to Rand Paul and Ron Paul and set up the whole Arbitration Award scheme to "give back" money owed to the people of this country.

Only it's actually military script that was and is still being issued on our credit, so what does that amount to? More debt.

Let me ask you ---do you believe Municipal Congress which has stonewalled Ron Paul for forty years would suddenly roll over and give his son, or us, anything good?

Not.

What they are actually doing is counting on human need and human greed to fuel the engines destroying the Federal Reserve Note via hyperinflation. That is, they are counting on people to embrace their own economic destruction by being senseless gluttons.

And that is what this man, this senior accounting consultant to DOA dreamed up, as a way to repay us the National Credit owed to us: indebt us some more.

And, in the bargain, get people to voluntarily identify themselves as British Territorial United States Citizens, so that they officially release their inheritance as Americans, give up their constitutional guarantees, give up their land and soil, and --- score double points! ---become responsible for the debts of the British Monarch.

This man, Richard, actually had the brass to call me a "traitor" and an "evil old woman" --- after he and his buddies, Phil and the Flag Officers, came up with such a scheme and I declined to go along with it.

Now, either these people are really stupid, or they are really criminal, and in either event, they are playing into the hands of the Municipal Corporation which is more than happy to pay us off by handing us more debt via these "Arbitration Awards", and the Brits are, of course, more than happy to get more Americans officially signed up to pay the Queen's debts.

All this undisclosed chicanery is just more fraud, leading to the same results as ever: the Americans being bilked by the Pope, who doesn't have to pay his debts under this scenario, and by the Queen, who gets American labor and American land and soil assets to help her pay her debts, via this Arbitration Award Scam.

As for Richard and Phil and their pals, the Flag Officers --- better decide whether you are dumb and innocent, or smart and guilty. As I see it, the Idiot's Defense is about all you have as an option.
