

Come On, Donald Trump. You Are a Smart Man.

By Anna Von Reitz

Picture then-President Obama and the UN Bankruptcy Trustees sitting around a conference table.

Picture Obama saying, "Well, all these land assets have just been sitting here unclaimed since 1953, why don't we put them into the pot as abandoned assets and use all that land as collateral backing our debts?"

The Bankruptcy Trustees readily, eagerly, with great glee say, "Why, yes, that would be acceptable....if you are sure that all these vast acreages are abandoned by the original owners?"

Obama says, "Oh, yes, quite sure. The land titles were taken back in the 1930's, released in 1954.... I don't think there is any realistic likelihood that the heirs will show up after all these years."

So the deal was done and all the American land assets were put up as collateral for Obummer's debts, "securing" and underwriting all the fraud and cronyism of the 2008 meltdown.

A couple weeks later, Obama shows up again for a little discussion with "his" bankruptcy trustees, and he says, "Yeah, hey, fellas, I found all these private and personal trusts just laying around in the banking system. Most of these haven't been accessed for fifty years. Why not take these assets as collateral, too?"

"No problem, Mr. President. We can do that. We'll just do a little allonge in the name of the missing trustees....."

"Right," says Mr. Obama. "These dumb clucks were never told that these trusts exist, so what they don't know won't hurt 'em."

So then, right after that, which basically means right after selling America to his Creditors--- he created new Public Transmitting Utilities named after every American.

Suddenly instead of seeing mail addressed to "JOHN SMYTHE JONES" we start seeing mail addressed to "JOHN S. JONES".

The estates have all been attached by the bankruptcy trustees, so the vermin needed a new "handle" to continue their scam of bleeding dry the clueless Americans.

But meantime, day by day, the Americans are waking up and figuring things out, and even if it seemed like a good bet to the bankruptcy trustees----against all the odds, the Americans show up and they claim back their assets.

And not just a few people claiming back a few pieces of land or a few ESTATES.

No, the Americans show up in their long-disused Ship of State and they roll the whole shooting match back into the possession of the sovereign, unincorporated land jurisdiction States, against which no incorporated entity can transgress.

So, even if Donald Trump wanted to seize our assets and honor Mr. Obama's deal with the corporate bankruptcy trustees, he couldn't, because he is President of an incorporated entity which is incompetent to sue a sovereign State.

Our assets have been saved and our claims are cured and the Courts are obligated to change their legal presumptions accordingly. All of that is in motion now.

But the bankruptcy trustees and the Secondary Creditors they represent are all screaming bloody-murder: "Wait, hey, wait a minute! We've been swindled! Obama told us nobody knew about the land titles and the trusts. We were under the impression that none of the assets had been touched in years--- that they were abandoned assets. Somebody set us up! We want blood!"

No, it was the American States and People who were swindled and misrepresented and defrauded decades ago -- first by Wilson and Theodore Roosevelt, then by Franklin Delano Roosevelt, then by Truman and Eisenhower.

They all acted as a bunch of colluding self-interested accomplices to identity theft, credit fraud, bankruptcy fraud, and genocide on paper.

And the plain fact is that they got caught, called on it, and out-gunned.

So what's the mop up?

The corporation Donald is trying to guide out of bankruptcy isn't going to make it. That's not his fault. Without our "abandoned" assets on the table, it never had a prayer, anyway. And with our claims added to the claims of the Secondary Creditors, the whole shebang is doubly damned.

Imagine what happens --- you are trying to claw your way out of a bankruptcy. Your Priority Creditors are presumed dead, lost at sea. So you are wrestling with your Secondary Creditors. Then your Priority Creditors show up and you already owe them so much money that the Secondary Creditors get blown off the table, down the hall and into the elevator.

Worse, all the "abandoned" assets of your Priority Creditors that you proposed to use as collateral backing your debts get whisked away, too. They are back home demanding that their assets be returned free and clear of debt.

Holy crappoli, could it get any worse?

It could get a lot better, if Donald Trump realizes that his Priority Creditors have the option to buy him out of his situation and can do so without blinking. All he has to do is help us reclaim our assets from the guilty banks and go to work for the American States and People instead of the Queen and the Pope.

Which was, if you recall, the original idea?

As the Queen and the Pope owe us a tremendous amount of money as a result of their 150 year fraud against us, and as they have no "Delegated Powers" left to exercise in our behalf, and as all their little henchmen in the Bar Associations are prohibited from holding any public office or position of trust related to us and as Westminster owes us a Treaty of "perpetual amity and peace"-----it would appear that it is time for Donald Trump to weigh anchor and get on the right side of the Public Law and all the related issues.

Incorporated entities have their advantages, but they also have their limitations.

You can see the dark clouds. You can see the confusion. You can see the paralysis. OMG, the actual Americans came home and claimed their assets.....the "dead" have risen, the Great Tribulation (tribute to Rome) is over, and we come like thieves in the night.

Only we are not thieves. We are the actual landowners. And the Priority Creditors of both "the" United States and "the" United States of America and all their Subcontractors and all the corporations formed under their auspices since 1860.
