

DRACO Down the Memory Hole They had a cure over a decade ago, but not for you

From Anna Von Reitz

Please Publish ALL of This On the Websites!

by Spartacus

On July 27th, 2011, a paper was published in PLOS ONE describing a novel protein biologic antiviral. It was called DRACO, an acronym for Double-stranded RNA Activated Caspase Oligomerizer.

Read the article on Substack here:

https://2ndsmartestguyintheworld.substack.com/p/draco-down-the-memory-hole?s=r&utm_campaign=post&utm_medium=web&utm_source=direct