

Dave Hodges is Making a Common Mistake

By Anna Von Reitz

Can you tell what it is?

He is mistaking "the US, Incorporated" for America.

Listen to this Rumble Report posted below with that factoid firmly lodged in your brain --and repeat if necessary: the US, Incorporated, is not America, and therefore, the US, Incorporated, debt, is not American debt:

<https://rumble.com/v42zq1t-americans-are-on-the-verge-of-losing-18trillion-dollars-famine-and-poverty-.html>

The US, Incorporated, under whatever similar and related names, including but not limited to the White House Office, Inc., that provides Joe Biden with his office as "a" President, has accumulated $18 Trillion in debt, with $9Trillion of that in the past two years of the Biden Administration. LOL.

Dave Hodges is very concerned about this and he thinks that you should be very concerned, too --- and you should, if you are a Federal Employee, because all this debt has been run up in your names, betting that the Scum-In-Charge will be able to foist off their bankruptcy on you and then, when you are all bankrupt, on the American Public one more time.

It's "Play It Again, Sam" time.

These crooks are so indoctrinated they don't even know when they've been caught.

An arrest team will have to roll up to their front doors before they get the message.

The banks that have been lending Uncle Joe all this credit -- credit belonging to Federal Employees -- will be so distressed when they realize that this time, they are taking it in the shorts instead of the long-suffering Americans.

The Americans (except Dave Hodges and some other well-intentioned folks who haven't yet heard the news) woke up. Guess what?

We never authorized a Probate Court to exist in this country. That means we didn't authorize any Bankruptcy Courts, either. And that means that absolutely none of this folderol applies to us.

That isn't our $18T worth of debt. It's debt owed by Federal Employees. Some of them may be Americans by birth, but none of them are adopting their birthright political status as Americans when working for the US, Inc., so that is not "American debt", Dave Hodges.

That debt is "United States" Debt, and it's not our United States, either.

That version of "United States" belongs to the Pope.

So if you want to make short work of the worry, just realize that it's not your debt, it's his debt.

And make sure it stays that way.

No little misunderstandings.

No need to worry about the Pope, either. He owns all the corporations in the world, so he has very deep pockets.

He's just fond of maximizing profits for his corporations and likes to palm off their tax debts and other expenses on innocent bystanders whenever possible.

Any poverty or suffering arising from this $18 Trillion debt needs to be confined to the District of Columbia and especially the Municipality of Washington, DC.

Let the Beltway feel the pain. They've been causing it for other people long enough.

They didn't want our unwashed people peacefully assembling in their "independent international city-state", so let the unauthorized independent international city-state pay its own bills.

Just step back and let the crap-a-dab fly past you for once.

If our Federal Capitol is magically not our Federal Capitol anymore, why are we paying their rent? Why aren't we prosecuting the rats for unlawful conversion and breach of trust and fraud and treason and a whole lot more?

Oh, wait.

We are doing that.

And the Vatican Chancery Court already has our initial billings for all sorts of nasty double-dealing criminal malfeasance by their Municipal Corporation Officers.

So instead of being frightened and thinking that an extra $18 Trillion just got dumped on your laps, think of it as $18 Trillion dumped on the Pope's lap.

And he can afford it. No problem.

Somebody please tell Dave?
