

Earth is Expanding

By Anna Von Reitz

People need to understand that the Earth is expanding and renewing itself. Two great rifts have opened — one splitting Africa in half longitudinally, one splitting the California Shelf from Vancouver to Baja. There is also a lot of volcanic activity associated with these changes. China's mega-volcano, Mt.Changba, is coming alive as is Mt. St. Helen's .

Without hundreds of millions of US Aid to constantly build and rebuild Ukraine's' electrical grid, Europe will have to make hard choices. We doubt very much that Europe, old, fat, and spoiled, will bear the weight. If it does, it will mean a long and prolonged fight which will quite possibly give the British war-mongers what they signed up for — a hundred years of war in Ukraine.

Thank goodness that Trump can think his way out of a box and that he realized that once Zelensky and the Brits set up the long term war, we'd be the ones paying for it and Zelensky would lack the mindset and desire to make peace.

So there we are— on a planet undergoing great changes, but at least not playing the rubes anymore.

Cutting off the funding for the Ukrainian electrical grid may seem particularly cold-hearted, but it sends a strong message to Ukraine that we are not playing around and it will no doubt hasten the end of the war.

Which is what Trump is trying to do.

See this article and over 5200 others on Anna's website here: www.annavonreitz.com

To support this work look for the Donate button on this website.