

"Federal Reserve" Factoids

By Anna Von Reitz

It has been said, and quite rightly, that the Federal Reserve is as "Federal" as Federal Express.

The name has fooled generations of people into thinking that the Federal Reserve is part of the Federal Government, when it is not part of the Federal Government and never has been.

The Federal Reserve is and has always been a consortium of mostly foreign banks that loan credit to the Municipal Corporations housed in the District of Columbia, based on assets that these Municipal Corporations and their franchises own or control at any given time.

The Federal Reserve launched its operations during The War of Independence to loan credit to both sides and functioned as a European Cheering Section intent on war-profiteering no matter how the conflict was resolved.

French banks operated by the Payseurs even made loans to the incipient American Government on behalf of George III, who was never one to miss out on an investment opportunity.

Once the war was over, the Federal Reserve settled down to collect war reparations and recoup foreign loans plus interest--- and it has operated more or less in the same capacity ever since, even though its members have changed and fluctuated over the years, with most of the big, especially private, European Banks being represented at one time or another.

The debts owed to the Europeans were paid off during the Andrew Jackson Administration, which created no end of consternation, because the Federal Reserve had lost its reason for being.

It was this sorry turn of events that caused the erstwhile central bank members of the Federal Reserve to engage in a concerted effort to redefine the debtors: having lost their grip on The United States of America, Unincorporated, they turned their attention to the British Territorial United States Government operating as "the" United States of America, Incorporated, and hit pay dirt.

The British Territorial Corporations, Crown Corporations, were and are always hungry for investment capital, and they cared less if that investment was made in gold coins or maritime commercial credit. So the Federal Reserve found a new lease on life, loaning credit to our British Territorial Federal Subcontractors.

Due to the extremely similar names, it wasn't hard to confuse debts owed by "the" United States of America, Incorporated, or debts owed by "The United States of America, Incorporated" for debts owed by The United States of America, Unincorporated, especially as some of the debts of the Subcontractors were legitimate obligations of our American Government.

Over time, it was extremely profitable for the banks and other Principals involved to wheedle and excuse little indiscretions, charging off expenses that clearly were not part of our agreements with our Subcontractors to us and holding our assets as collateral securing the debts of our spendthrift Federal Subcontractors.

They all had great fun with this. They charged everything to us and our accounts --- the Civil War, the Mexican American War, the untold War in the Philippines, the First World War, the Second World War, all of the hundreds of unnamed "conflicts" in between, Korea, Vietnam, Iraq, Libya --- all of it.

To put it bluntly, the Federal Subcontractors reorganized as Municipal Corporations by the 1870s, colluded with the banks to charge whatever they wanted to charge off against our country and our assets, because they thought that we were "gone", in "interregnum", "lost at sea" and would never return and object to it.

Now that we have "returned" and have objected, it makes the consternation of the 1840s look like a cake walk, because now, instead of us owing the world to them, they owe the world to us.

Oh, %@$%!

They have tried to do a lot of fancy shuffling around and false asset assignments and insurance claims and all sorts of other dodges to avoid the inevitable, but at the same time, they shot themselves (and everyone else) in the foot with a grossly illegal, unlawful, and immoral depopulation plan.

Now the entire world is facing an inevitable Population Collapse brought to us by the crooked banks, the idiot politicians, and their military accomplices.

The Federal Reserve members and the International Monetary Fund members and the World Bank members, are all scrambling around and no doubt hoping that they can avoid detection --again-- and escape behind a smokescreen of worldwide economic collapse, which they have caused.

If I were an oddsmaker, I wouldn't give them good odds on that.

And if I were them, I wouldn't count on being able to hide anything away in the Philippines, or Jakarta, or Taiwan, or the salt caves of Nevada. All that surveillance equipment they bought to keep an eye on innocent civilians has been brought to bear on different targets.

In 2009 -- partially as a result of the 2007-2008 Lehman Brothers meltdown (which by the way also involved the United States Department of Agriculture and the Small Business Administration) the Federal Reserve System, a trademarked business model venture, was bankrupted.

JPMORGAN and Chase Bank inherited the trade names: THE FEDERAL RESERVE and THE FEDERAL RESERVE BANK OF GOVERNORS, as part of the bankruptcy liquidation, so they have been happily confusing everyone ever since.

Some people have even been walking around, shaking their heads, and complaining that they are in some kind of movie, The Night of the Living Dead

Banks, because they can't figure out how a bankrupt bank can suddenly appear to resurrect itself and continue on as if Chapter 7 never happened.

These same poor souls can't figure out how Wells Fargo converted from a bank into an investment bank, either. And most of them are still wondering what happened to Wall Street? Where did it go?

They stare at me when I tell them that it moved offshore to Telaviv, magically, overnight, yes, Wall Street moved to Telaviv, and Telaviv, of course, is located in the State of Israel, just like the State of Alabama.

Lordy. What a tangled web they have been weaving in the District of Columbia.

No American, and certainly, no American Fiduciary in their right mind, would agree to any of this "interpretation" of reality.

We are all quite sure that Israel is not an American State of the Union, and that calling it "the State of Israel" is not going to make us responsible for any war debts resulting from a Mideast war triggered by the end of the so-called Balfour Protectorate.

If they want to save Israel, the Perps need to talk to us and the rest of the world, especially the countries of the Middle East, and see after all the acrimony the Perps have financed on both sides (hey, they created Hammas!) --- if some kind of sane and humane and fair solution can be worked out by the common people who live there.

The Federal Reserve, meanwhile, needs to keep its nose clean, and its investment banks at heel. The World Bank and IMF, too, and all the members of the so-called SWIFT Cooperative.

Cooperatives are just another form of corporation, too.
