

One Page History of America from Colonies to Now for General Milley

By Anna Von Reitz

Colonial America was dominated by two huge investment companies --- the Catholic Maryland Company and the Protestant Virginia Company. During The War of Independence, the Maryland Company remained officially neutral. The Virginia Company split into two factions, one American and one European-dominated.

The American faction doing business as The United States of America fought the British faction doing business as the United States of America.

During the war, The United States of America represented the Federation of Thirteen States and acted for five years as the Holding Company for their mutually delegated powers in the international and global jurisdictions. Still in the middle of the war, The United States of America federation formed a Confederation of States by delegating some of its powers to conduct business to a new entity, the States of America..

By 1781, we had two American business entities, The United States of America, a Federation of States, and the States of America, a Confederation of States of States, in operation.

At the end of the war, the peace process held the investment companies harmless.

The three Federal Constitutions adopted in 1787, 1789, and 1790, which divvy up juicy government contracts and spheres of influence represent the implementation of four Treaty Series --- The Treaties of Versailles (land), The Treaties of Paris (admiralty), The Treaties of Westminster (air), and the Treaties of Ghent (maritime).

The American Confederation doing business as the States of America was given the contract to administer the American Federal Republic under The Constitution for the united States of America (1787). The British offshoot of the Virginia Company, the United States of America, was given the contract to provide military and Territorial Government functions under The Constitution of the United States of America (1789). The Papist Maryland

Company was given the contract to provide certain international and global services, including the Post Office functions under The Constitution of the United States (1790).

Under this arrangement, the American Federal Republic, was responsible for most of the functions of the Federal Government. The Brits ran our Navy on the High Seas and Inland Waterways and provided administration of our Territories and Possessions. The Papists provided postal and other civil services.

In 1860, the Brits ran Abraham Lincoln, an attorney who was prohibited from holding any public office in our Federal Republic, as the President of the United States of America --- that is, the President of the Territorial Government, but not President of The United States of America federation and not President of the Federal Republic run by the States of America confederation.

The state-of-state members of the Confederation split into two camps and fought each other, with Lincoln in control of the Northern members and the Territorial Government, and Jefferson Davis in control of the South and his Papist allies. After this Civil War, the Confederation was never reconstructed and the Federal Republic abandoned, giving rise to the perpetual state of emergency we live with today. A full one-third of our intended Government has been dormant ever since.

The British Territorial Government slipped in what appeared to be an American Military Protectorate under Lincoln's Lieber Code, substituted Territorial State-of-State organizations for the American Confederation, and has sat here quietly leeching off us and occupying our country ever since.

They have been occupying us using our own Armed Forces since 1865, bleeding us dry and misdirecting our policies, engaging in war-mongering for profit, and causing everyone no end of trouble for 160 years.

It's time for it to stop, for our military to recognize what has gone on here, and for the rest of the world including our traditional Allies to protest this continued armed occupation of America by these foreign incorporated instrumentalities, both of which are ultimately owned by the Pope.

See this article and over 3200 others on Anna's website here: www.annavonreitz.com

To support this work look for the PayPal buttons on this website.