

URGENT FRAUD WARNING! USE BUYER'S REMORSE CLAUSE NOW!

By Anna Von Reitz

Rothschild is dumping "US" assets this morning because he realizes that the titles he claims to own to all these assets are based on fraud -- worthless -- but he is trying to sell them anyway. I have never seen a more flagrant example of Bad Faith since the Florida Real Estate Swindles.

The banks have been involved in a multi-generational fraud scheme in which they have created, bought and sold interests in property in which they have no valid interest.

Pure and simple -- they don't have a valid interest in anything they are selling. They are selling the equivalents to Quit Claims to property they don't own. Those "US" assets belong to and have been claimed back by the American States and People. All Secondary Creditors including the Rothschilds are out of luck.