

International Public Notice: The Good "Bad" News

By Anna Von Reitz

It appears that there is considerable confusion about my office as Fiduciary for The United States of America (Unincorporated).

I am an American Officer working for the American Government, which is the Federation of States. I am a Federation Officer, not a "Federal" Officer. I am no kind of "United States" Officer at all and never have been.

As the name implies, the "Federal Government" is obliged to work for the Federation of States. We created and employed these service vendors as stipulated in three famous sequential service contracts known respectively as:

The Constitution for the united States of America, issued in 1787 and delegating some certain enumerated land jurisdiction "powers" to the States of America, our American Confederation of States --- which lost quorum to operate in 1861 and has stood vacant, awaiting reconstruction ever since.

The Constitution of the United States of America, issued in 1789, to British Territorial Service Providers, delegating certain Territorial "powers" in the international jurisdiction to the sea, obligating the recipients to, in the main points, protect our borders, our commercial shipping on the High Seas and Navigable Inland Waterways, to administer territorial expansions under the Northwest Ordinance, provide a maritime and admiralty court system under American Admiralty Law, etc.. The Successor to this contract is the LLC that Donald Trump is "Commander in Chief" of.

The Constitution of the United States, issued in 1790, delegated certain powers in the jurisdiction of the air to the Post Offices, Customs Offices, Trademark and Patent Offices, etc., to perform administrative duties and functions in defense of American intellectual property. The erstwhile Successor to Contract was the UNITED STATES, INC. which was bankrupted by Pope Francis under the Obama Administration.

This is the way it is, the way it has been for 160 years, and there is no point in anyone getting all excited because they just got the memo.

We, the Americans, were kept in the dark for decades by self-interested service vendors, but no more; that is the good news -- the Americans are awake now, and able to conduct their own business. Depending on your position, that may also be the bad news.

I am not a Fiduciary for any incorporated entity at all. My caretaking extends only to living people and lawful persons.

I am an American Federation Officer, not an officer attached to any Federal Service Vendor.

Incorporated entities don't have "fiduciaries" --- they have trustees, they have representatives, they have shareholders, they have beneficiaries, but they do NOT have "fiduciaries". Only lawful governments and physical asset holders have fiduciaries.

So, I do not owe the British Crown Corporation any duty or service that I am purportedly neglecting, am not "at war" with them, and have no relationship with them apart from enforcing their service contract known as The Constitution of the United States of America.

As the primary Fiduciary for the unincorporated Federation of States doing business as The United States of America (Unincorporated) I am the natural Receiver of the delegated powers and assets of the dependent federal corporations when they enter bankruptcy or otherwise default on their contractual obligations --- or, they can claim to be "independent vendors", in which case the costs of their bankruptcies have to be borne by their citizens, and not by the American people.

It's one way or the other. They can't have it both ways.

They've since claimed to be independent vendors. Good enough. Now we are going to test who is and who is not a British Territorial U.S. Citizen and who is and who is not a Municipal "citizen of the United States" --- Federal Civil Servant, that is, to see who belongs to which "public" responsible for the bankruptcy debts of these respective foreign corporations.

Americans are no longer going to willy-nilly "accept" all the costs and charges presented by these service vendors, no longer acquiescing by default to false claims to the effect that all federal expenses are constitutionally allowed or mandated. They are not.

The "powers" delegated are strictly enumerated and so are the costs associated with the proper exercise of those powers.

For example, when we authorized action in "defense" of our States of the Union, we did not imply, mean, or authorize mercenary action against "commercial threats" in places like France or Vietnam.

We did not agree to pay for war-for-profit under the Monroe Doctrine, did not agree to use our sons and daughters as mercenaries, did not envision owning or paying for 950 military bases on foreign soil, etc., etc., etc.

What we meant and what we contracted to receive was simply defense of our shipping on the High Seas and Navigable Inland Waterways and defense of our borders as stipulated. That is the beginning and end of our contractual agreement and therefore also the beginning and end of our fiscal accountability with regard to payment for these stipulated services.

The public capacities and duties of these "governmental services corporations" are owed to me together with all public assets acquired using American assets; their private capacities and duties and assets are not my concern.

In recent days, I have received all sorts of nonsensical suppositions about me, my political status, my role --- and even confusion resulting from the activities of the World Martial Authority, which is operating a commercial court system and trying to address remedy for gross malfeasance on the part of commercial operators providing essential government services.

The operations of these corporations are within the jurisdiction and province of the World Martial Authority and commercial jurisprudence in general, but it is self-evident that people are not corporations and are not rendered corporations by virtue of anyone else's suppositions about them.

This circumstance has been adequately addressed by our recent International Public Notice: Concerning Misapplication of Law.

My jurisdiction pertains only to living people and lawful persons. I am not the Fiduciary for any incorporated entity at all. Incorporated entities may have trustees, directors, shareholders, representatives, donors, beneficiaries, proxies, and so on, but they do not have Fiduciaries. Only living people and lawful governments and actual asset holders have Fiduciaries.

I R 1.

The bankruptcies of the commercial and municipal government service corporations are matters that don't overly concern me, as I act as the Receiver of dependent franchise assets, and assets purchased using American assets.

Recent fisticuffs over the improper assumption of ownership and salvage interest in the United States Federal Republic seized upon in 1871 without proper notice and disclosure to the American Public may have caused further confusion and consternation.

Additional ground-laying regarding commercial remedies and solutions being proposed by the International Court of Justice and the World Martial Authority and others, may also be confusing because although I don't represent any incorporated entity, I do represent the presumed public trust donors, the inheritors and beneficiaries and their lawful government(s).

We conducted our Due Process from 2007 to 2014, when we issued our Final Judgment against the Perpetrators; it was only at that time, 2014, that the World Martial Authority began its efforts. So we had already concluded full scale Court of Record and Due Process deliberations on land and sea prior to or concurrent with the commencement of the World Martial Authority action in the jurisdiction of the air.

We had already taken action to defend the interests of the living people and lawful persons and their lawful governments and we continued to carry through with subsequent Uniform Commercial Code claims on behalf of the actual beneficiary-inheritors who have hands and feet and their lawful government(s).

As that process adequately demonstrates, all assets of the UNITED STATES franchises doing business as, for example, UTAH or IOWA, and all United States of America, Incorporated, franchises doing business as the State of Florida or State of Wisconsin, were given Notice and liened sequentially, providing yet another layer of due process, and establishing irrevocable and timely claim upon the assets of these organizations in favor of The United States of America (Unincorporated) which then separated out its mutually-held international assets from national assets, and returned the national assets to The United States (Unincorporated) and each nation-state.

This was all done properly, timely, and in sequence. The primary claims and actions were lodged prior to 2007, with Due Process beginning in 2007 and finished by April 2014; the concurrent commercial claims were finished by 2016 and stand upon the records of the Uniform Commercial Code Unit in Anchorage, Alaska.

All public assets in international jurisdiction belong under the administration of The United States of America (Unincorporated) and all private assets belong under the administration of the individual living people, their lawful Persons, and their sovereign nation-states according to the laws and customs of our country.

As a result, foreign commercial claims against American assets protected by these prior and preferential claims on behalf of the American people/People, cannot be honored; and, even though I am the Fiduciary of the living people and their lawful persons, my Name exclusive of any unauthorized British Crown Copyright (rebutted on the record by my Mother and affirmed by the Vatican Chancery Court) stands as Witness and Claimant and "Return to" Addressee as an American Officer of the American Government dba The United States of America (Unincorporated).

We showed up. We showed up timely. We stated our claim. We proved our case. We executed due process. We issued the judgement of our Court of Record. All this has been published worldwide since 2015.

Nobody can claim that they have a higher or more substantial claim to American assets in international jurisdiction going all the way back to the American Treaties, and all American assets in national jurisdiction stand protected by these actions and by the customs of our traditional government(s).

Thus, a Fiduciary acting for the living people and their lawful persons can, nonetheless, in pursuit of that duty, make claims on their behalf in foreign jurisdictions of the law, and may as an International Officer stand in the doorway between the worlds, defending the interests of the living against the interests of the dead.

Let it be clear to all concerned that I am an American working for the American Government. I am an Officer of the Federation of States, the unincorporated instrumentality and Holding Company doing business as The United States of America (Unincorporated), in possession of the mutually-held powers, both delegated and non-delegated.

I am a Federation Officer, not a "Federal" Officer; I don't work for any of the federal corporations, I don't stand under any federal constitution, don't naturally inhabit any commercial jurisdiction, and I don't hold any "federal" office. Rather, the Federal Government is obligated to work for the Federation of States and the Federation of States works for the States of the Union, which are in Session now in all fifty (50) States.

The "Federal Government" is called the "Federal Government" because it is obligated to work for the Federation of States and the American People serving as State Citizens of the Federation's member States of the Union.

So, let's keep this straight in our minds going forward.

The American Government stands upon The Declaration of Independence and won its freedom and borders and land assets via eight long years of honorable and successful warfare against the British Empire.

This American Government is the Government I work for and which I represent as a Fiduciary Officer in international jurisdiction.

The so-called United States Federal Government is supposed to be a for-hire instrumentality of the American Federation of States, dba, The United States of America --- Unincorporated. Each one of the Federal Subcontractors is supposed to operate under its own Constitution.

As things stand, with regard to the Federal Service Vendors, the intended American Federal Republic Subcontractor and the American Confederation of States doing business as the States of America, have both been inoperable since 1861.

Their delegated powers naturally return to the Delegator, but in this case, the Delegator, the unincorporated Federation of States was deliberately misidentified and misrepresented as the Confederate States of America, denied information, deprived of required notices, and suffered persecution of its elected and commissioned officials under False Pretenses.

The British Territorial Subcontractor and its Successor organizations have been horribly mismanaged and have misrepresented themselves and their authorities to promote substitution and identity theft schemes on a national and international level, illegal confiscation of American assets, crimes of personage and barratry, racketeering, and fraud against their employers.

The Papist Municipal Subcontractors and their Successor organizations have ultimately followed suit and participated in gross fraud and breach of trust against their employers in collusion with the British Territorial Subcontractors from 1937 and the publication of The Declaration of Interdependence of the Governments in The United States, to 2008, when correction began.

We, the American Government, stand in a "transition" -- but we still stand and still have standing under the actual Law. We still have Fiduciaries.
