

Idiocy Abounds - Global Currency Reset? Ya - right

By Anna Von Reitz

I am amazed but not amused to receive all these joyous rumor-mill announcements about the "Global Reset" and how we shall all soon be "millionaires" and how America is going to "lead the way" into this new era of "abundance and prosperity".

Are all those sending these messages around the globe completely mad? Dumbed down to the extent that they cannot easily calculate the effect of giving everyone "millions of dollars" all at once?

Any such fiat digital "money" masquerading as a "US Dollar" will be rendered useless overnight.

As it was in Weimar Germany, it will be here. It will cost a million such "dollars" for a loaf of bread.

And you think this is something to celebrate?

Did your Mothers all drop you on your heads?

The long-planned and announced "devaluation" of the so-called "dollar" and the end of the fiat money system is right on schedule. It will be brought about by hyperinflation created when the banks flood every bank account with millions of meaningless digits.

And what does it cost these banks to place digits in accounts? A few key strokes? And you think that this is meaningful? You think it is anything but another act of venal, destructive, self-interested fraud?

Wake to hell up out of your greedy dreams and hear the birds singing.

(1) Any such "dollars" will be worthless.

(2) Anyone using them will be complicit in the fraud.

(3) This will be the "excuse" the perpetrators of the fraud will use to hunt you down and steal your property.

Call them on it now before they even start the gimmick and get yourselves out of their "Dodge".
