

International Public Notice: "The" Inauguration

By Anna Von Reitz

Today, Donald Trump has been "inaugurated".

We hear this strange word and take it for granted. We shouldn't.

The meaning of "inauguration" comes from the Roman Church and involves the "consecration" of a prelate or priest or other officer of the Church in his office. Any legal meaning or extension of this practice to describe coronations and the entry of corporation Presidents into office, is euphemistic and derived--- but in this case, there is no need to assume a legal or euphemistic meaning.

Franklin Delano Roosevelt was the most forthcoming of the "Presidents" about the nature of his "inauguration" as "President of the United States" as he directly mentioned its nature as a consecration in his First Inaugural Address --- right along with his mention of clearinghouse certificates.

The vast majority of Americans have never been told and never understood on their own, that the inauguration of a President of the United States is a private affair and that the addresses that these men make upon their inauguration are aimed at and for the Federal Civil Service --- not the American Public.

An inauguration, therefore, is an odd blend of public disclosure of a private event, and an opportunity to address the Municipal citizenry that the new President is taking command of.

We have pointed out the impossibility of Donald Trump's assumption of any office in the defunct United States, Inc., the fraud involved in all the various entities calling themselves "United States", the impossibility of Trump claiming to be President of The United States -- the country, and also the lack of standing of all the British Territorial "Republics" at all levels that have been ginned up by U.S. Citizens.

So what are we to think about the "Inauguration" that has just taken place? What "United States" is Donald Trump the President of? Has someone created an unincorporated business calling itself the United States? If so, who would have the right to do this and use it to promote such a ruse on the Federal Civil Service and the people of this country?

Maybe, at the end of the day, it was too much to deal with and too tight on the timeline, and someone somewhere just said, "We'll ask forgiveness at a later date."

Even though forgiveness is not the issue, honesty and lawful operation is the issue. Building on stone rather than sand is the issue.

There were other truly funky aspects to this inauguration today, too.

Donald Trump just did.

Perhaps he is an Atheist, despite his references to God and the Bible, but as all matters of the Air Jurisdiction depend on belief, he would be barred from any traditional or known office of "President of the United States", if that were so.

Once again, we are all left adrift in La-La-Land, with the British Territorials trying to pull a fast one, and everyone else in the world left shaking their heads. What do they think they are doing?

More fraud just creates more fraud.

When Hiram Grant renamed himself "Ulysses S Grant" and thereby became "US Grant", referring to the "grant of United States property" he intended to make to the England Company under the False Pretense that he conquered our land in a war that was actually a Mercenary Conflict that our States of the Union didn't even participate in --- he thought nobody would notice.

Hiram Grant was right about that for a long, long time, but, in the end, we did notice. We caught onto the fraud. That then exploded everything he did and everything "the England Company" has done with our property ever since.

Their illegal occupation of our country speaks for itself, and unfortunately, so do Mr. Trump's actions. He and his bosses at SERCO and Westminster are still weaving and dodging and trying to evade the consequences of their earlier fraud by sponsoring another.

They could have just talked to us. They could have been upright and ended the fraud. They could have sought to redeem their lawful standing as men and laid down their mercenary garb, but they didn't.

There are other things about this inauguration that certainly ought to give everyone pause to think. Where were the flags?

Not a single flag to be seen.

There's a reason for that.

After the Great Fraud began in earnest with Abraham Lincoln's appointment of a Rump Territorial Congress, the British Territorial U.S. Army was acting as a private mercenary force. That happened in 1861.

By the time they came to the Battle of Little Big Horn in 1876, they had been abusing our flag to indulge in unauthorized, non-contractual mercenary conduct for fifteen years.

The Lakota War Chief took back our battered Title IV Flag captured from General George Armstrong Custer's Seventh Cavalry, and the Lakota kept it, Father to Son, for over a hundred and sixty years, waiting to return it to the rightful owners.

So we are now in possession of all our flags and our seals, including the much-abused Title IV Flag, and the rest of the world is recognizing what happened to our country and to many other countries in the western world.

We've been usurped and impersonated by our own employees, who have abused their positions of trust and liberally violated their service contracts under the direction of foreign commercial and municipal interests.

Our country has been wrongly blamed for the violent crime spree our misinformed and misdirected employees have been on at the behest of the British Governments and the Holy Roman Empire ever since 1861.

Our only actual contracts with these Principals are well-known and published as The Constitution of the United States of America and The Constitution of the United States, respectively. Our States have not ratified any Amendments to either contract since the 12th Amendment, with the possible exception of the 13th Amendment abolishing slavery -- which is still being researched.

Everything after that including the infamous 14th Amendment was all a Do-It-Yourself administrative hack job and fraud upon the American Public.

Their contracts require them to protect and defend this country, but there is no mention of them having delegated authority to offensively attack any other country.

As in so many other instances, they gratuitously redefined the meaning of "defend" to include offensive actions far from our shores, and have been on a mercenary crime spree of war racketeering and privateering at our expense ever since.

Let it stand for the record that our sons and daughters were never told that they were signing up to be foreign mercenaries in the British equivalent of a French Foreign Legion when they agreed to serve in "the United States Military".

The criminal empire that has been built on our backs is now crumbling. The truth is severing the bones from the sinews of the Beast, and yet, somehow, Mr. Trump is attempting to keep the lid on all of this?

If he actually means to do anything good for this country and make it stick, Mr. Trump has to come clean. He has to come home to the land and soil. Britain and the Roman Hierarchy need to make amends and make a clean breast of all of this --- and as the actual law requires, return all our assets, unharmed.

The same is true of all the other countries they've illegally occupied, commandeered, and plundered under False Pretenses.

The use of our Title IV Flag for display at private ceremonies transferring administrative control over the Federal Civil Service is not stipulated under any constitutional agreement. That's why you didn't see any of our flags, Title IV or otherwise, at today's inauguration.

The arrangement that allows the British Territorial "President" to command the Holy Roman Empire's citizenry staffing the Federal Civil Service, is an extension of the venerable collusion between the Popes and the British Monarchs, assigning the British Crown to act as Overseers of the Commonwealth and Territories.

This transfer of command functions between two foreign service contractors has nothing to do with us and nothing to do with our service contracts with either one of them, so why should our flags be on display at such an event? They shouldn't. For the first time in many, many years, they weren't.

This absence of flags is, ironically, a good sign. It signals the slow process of making our Federal Subcontractors come back within the confines of their contracts and honor their good faith service obligations.
