

International Public Notice --- Judy Buying Time

By Anna Von Reitz

We recently said that U.S. Citizens can't restore the American Federal Republic; only Americans can do that.

Seems obvious enough, but some people need to hear that simple truth over and over again, as if they are stone deaf and need to have it tattooed inside their eyelids.

Here it is again: it takes Americans to restore the American Federal Republic. U.S. Citizens can't do it.

All U.S. Citizens can do is create a British Territorial version of our Federal Republic ----and try to substitute it for our American Federal Republic.

Like cuckoo birds.

And that's not "restoring" the American Federal Republic.

That's pretending to restore the American Federal Republic while substituting a British Territorial version for it.

Where we come from that's called "Bait and Switch" --- a common form of garden variety fraud.

(It hasn't hit bottom yet that we already called them on it.)

Judy and the people running RuSA are all registered card-carrying U.S. Citizens and stubborn about retaining that foreign citizenship status, too.

So they literally can't restore the American Federal Republic.

Why? Let's say it again:

The only people who can restore the American Federal Republic are Americans.

People who have been registered as U.S. Citizens and retained that political status can't do the job of restoring the American Federal Republic or the American Government or anything else American.

That's because they aren't functioning as Americans.

As long as they hang onto that U.S. Citizenship and give their allegiance to King Charles III, they might as well stand on one foot and hop their way to the moon, so far as doing anything legitimate to restore the American Government goes.

It's like asking someone to pee for you.

There are some things you have to do for yourself and there are some things that nobody can do for you.

This is one of them.

It takes Americans operating in their lawful political status as Americans to do this work.

Do we have to say it again?

The only people on Earth who can restore the American Federal Republic are Americans.

When it comes to Judy Buying Time and RuSA, an old Elvis Costello song comes to mind: "Well, I used to be disgusted, but now I try to be amused...."

Let's say it again.

The only people who can restore the American Federal Republic or any other part of the American Government are Americans.

Not British Territorial U.S. Citizens. Not Municipal citizens of the United States.
Not District personnel of any kind.

We need Americans who hail from the States of the Union, not from Puerto Rico, not from the District of Columbia.

Plain old hard-headed good-hearted Americans are required to do the job, and that means: New Yorkers, Californians, Virginians, Coloradans, New Jerseyians, Minnesotans, Montanans, Ohioans, Missourians, Texans, Wisconsinites ---- everybody getting the drift?

U.S. Citizens can't do it. Municipal citizens of the United States can't do it.

It doesn't matter where they were born or how "American" they seem. They can sing Yankee Doodle and wave flags all day long, but they aren't functioning as Americans.

And until they are, they can't do squat jack diddly to restore the American Federal Republic.

U.S. Citizens give away their allegiance to the British Crown.

Municipal citizens gave their fealty to the City of Rome and the Roman Pontiff.

They are not acting as Americans.

They may be ignorant.

They may think they are acting as Americans.

But take it to the bank --- if they retain U.S. Citizenship, they are not operating as Americans and they don't have the rights and powers of Americans.

If they are operating as Municipal citizens of the United States, they are not operating as Americans and they don't have the rights and powers of Americans.

That includes the right, power, and standing to restore the American Federal Republic: U.S. Citizens and citizens of the United States don't have the mojo, the rubber stamp, or the flat-feet on terra firma to do the job.

And that is all there is to it.

U.S. Citizens can't restore the American Federal Republic or anything else American.

Municipal citizens of the United States can't restore the American Federal Republic or anything else American.

Do we have to say it again, one more time?

Think of the old Creedence Clearwater Revival song, "Fortunate Son". Remember the refrain? "It ain't me."

Well, neither are they. They think they are Americans. And then they claim to be U.S. Citizens.

That's like claiming to be Coke and Pepsi at the same time.

This means that Judy Buying Time is playing Pretend, pretending that RuSA has "39 States up and standing".

Why? Because to populate American States, you have to be what?

An American.

What political status do you need?

That of an American.

What is it that Judy Buying Time and her pals in RuSA don't have?

Political status as Americans.

So can they, U.S. Citizens, stand up an American State?

They might as well try to play Beethoven's Fifth with the cracks in their rumps.

You cannot build, organize, or populate an American State if you are not an American.

Why?

Because only Americans can do that.

It really is simple enough, but just to be sure, let's say it again:

Only Americans can restore the American Government.

U.S. Citizens --- for example, people born in Puerto Rico --- can't restore the American Federal Republic, can't raise American States, and can't act as Governors of American States, or do any of the things that Judy Buying Time claims to be doing.

Why? Because Puerto Rico is a British Commonwealth country and its people are U.S. Citizens, not Americans.

U.S. Citizens owe their allegiance to the British Crown and Commonwealth. Not America.

They aren't operating as Americans.

No matter where they were born or what they say.

U.S. Citizens don't have the political status of Americans.
Neither do Municipal citizens of the United States.

Only Americans can raise and populate American States, restore the American Federal Republic, and elect actual American State Governors.

That's the truth, the fact, and that's all there is to it.

Doesn't do any good to argue or wish or pretend.

If you want to be an American, and function as an American, and have the unobstructed powers and rights and standing of an American, you can't be a U.S. Citizen.

You can't be a Municipal citizen of the United States, either.

You have to take the plunge and say on the record, yeah, I'm a New Yorker..... I'm a Californian.... I'm a Wisconsinite.

Bite it. I don't want or need to be anything else.

And at that point, you can come home and be an American.

You can restore the American Federal Republic. You can raise the States of the Union. You can run your County Court.

You can do all the things that Jim Geiger and Judy Buying Time are claiming to do, without really doing any of it.

Why?

Because they are claiming to restore the American Government and the American Federal Republic, and they don't have the political status and lawful standing to do any of that.

They are all U.S. Citizens.

So we know, for sure, that they are blowing smoke through their fog holes. We know, for sure, that they are wasting everyone's time.

The only ones who can restore America are Americans.
