

This is Karen Hudes' latest excuse---

the evil "Network of Global Control".

<https://youtu.be/GbRK575ReG0>

This "Network" was "discovered" by accident by statistical correlation by Dutch statisticians when in fact it is the known and predictable result of running the entire world as an interlocking trust directorate--- which is what we published as part of our affidavit: "You Know Something Is Wrong When.....An American Affidavit of Probable Cause" available at Amazon.com.

I have to say, "Duh? What do you expect to find in a statistical analysis of a known interlocking trust directorate???"

Now Karen is trying to use this to excuse the theft of American gold and the gold owed other nations by the World Bank.

It won't work.

The World Bank was a Secondary Creditor in the 1933 Bankruptcy of the United States of America, Inc.

They full-well knew that the Priority Creditor was the American People, and logically, their heirs and descendents.

But when it came time for settlement and all the debts were paid off by those same American People --- nobody informed the Priority Creditors who were still alive, much less their heirs and beneficiaries.

Instead, the World Bank came in as a Secondary Creditor and claimed the collateral assets owed to us under the pretense that our whereabouts and identities are unknown, and that the assets were "abandoned" by unknown heirs.

I hope you all have your Shinola Sensors turned on to High Alert. I also hope that you are all as determined to see justice done as I am and that you will all stand up and demand not only return of your gold, but return of your land patents, your labor, your businesses and your families and cars and everything else that these vermin have claimed to own and use as collateral benefiting them and their organizations.
