

The Kingdom of the Dead

By Anna Von Reitz

My recent article about the Queen occupying The Chair of the Estates really hit a nerve, and apparently most people in the English-speaking world were totally unaware that the Queen has been occupying a different office other than the one required by The Coronation Oath all these years---- though that has to be apparent in retrospect, with or without John Anthony Hill.

I have examined the evidence, too, and it is incontrovertible.

The Queen took the Oath and three days later broke it, on the record. This had the effect of "killing" her role and rule as Christian Monarch and ended her obligation to fulfill the Public Law and her vows made in apparent Bad Faith to the people of the United Kingdom.

Instead of operating in the capacity of Elizabeth the Second, she has been operating in the "dead" corporate capacity of ELIZABETH II. Her Consort, Prince Philip has similarly been operating in a dead corporate capacity for sixty years.

Her chosen Office since then has involved creating bogus claims of abandonment against the land jurisdiction owed to the States and People of the actual United States, Canada, Australia, and elsewhere, while her husband's role has been to profit from the creation of equally bogus Cestui Que Vie estate trusts, Public Transmitting Utilities, Wards of the State, and similar "derivatives" that yield among other benefits profit from insurance and bottomry bond scams such as "Life Force Value Annuities" that are in fact owed to us and to our ancestors.

Every office and entity is dead or presumed to be dead in this entire matrix of falsehoods and illusions. This is very convenient for the criminals involved in profiteering from this, as the dead cannot defend themselves, cannot be heard in court and cannot bring any claim or complaint against the perpetrators of these vile schemes.

Also, in the case of "dead" corporations and all legal fictions, such as public and private corporate offices, there is no law against any of the most terrible offenses we conceive of. You can murder a corporation and drink its blood, you can rape and strangle a corporation, you can draw and quarter a corporation, you can steal from a corporation and trespass upon it with impunity. You can enslave a corporation and require it to perform in any way you wish.

This, of course, gives the criminals motive to do what they have done to mischaracterize and impersonate and enfranchise billions of people, rendering them all subjects and legal fiction entities in their Kingdom of the Dead---all as an excuse to also pretend that we are not flesh and blood and are not the natural owners of our Trade Names and are in fact dead legal fiction entities subject to criminal abuse and mistreatment at the hands of their henchmen and Priests of the Dead operating the Bar Associations.

Time to break the spell, and become not only alive, but truly aware of the entrenched evil infesting high places.

This evil has been ensconced in the Holy See and in Westminster and in Buckingham Palace where it has silently grown like a cancer for generations, in all the royal houses of Europe it has threaded its web, and those who would not succumb to it -- like Czar Nicholas and Kaiser Wilhelm II and Prince Frederick and Princess Diana, they have murdered and warred upon.

This is, in the end, a spiritual war, which must be won in the spirit and in the flesh. Only by steadfastly honoring the Truth and honoring each other can we win. Only by establishing our eternal wisdom, strength, resolve, and determination to have, be, and do what is right, can we overcome. We must reach very deep in our souls and accept the burden of knowing how banal evil is, how mundane its methods, how insidious its creep. And we must oppose it with all our will and all our wit and all our vigilance.

Who could imagine on June 5, 1953 that the radiant young Queen, crowned only three days before, would declaim her true crown and birthright?

Was she perhaps as clueless and misled and misinformed as everyone else?

If these outrages should stand, and the Throne of the United Kingdom be thus dishonored and cast aside---what can it mean for her Successors?

See this article and over 1000 others on Anna's website here: www.annavonreitz.com
To support this work look for the PayPal button on this website.