

A Brief Message to Prinz Friedrich von Hohenzollern and the German People

By Anna Von Reitz

We have discovered a very large gold deposit belonging to the Kingdoms of Prussia and Russia.

It was secretly seized upon and managed as "Abandoned Assets" after the massacre of the last Tsar and his family. Tsar Nicholas was holding the Prussian gold in trust for Kaiser Wilhelm II during the First World War. This gold and the slavering after it is most likely the reason not only for the Tsar's murder, but the entire Russian Revolution.

We have sent information out to the German people and to Prinz Friedrich telling them what is necessary to reclaim their gold. Thus far all we've gotten back are some ravings from someone who sends dozens of videos on various topics, but doesn't explain anything in plain spoken words, German or English.

We aren't here to play guessing games. We are hoping to get this gold deployed to help the people of Germany and Poland and other nations that once formed the Kingdom of Prussia. Pure and simple -- it is their gold and we want to see it returned for their benefit.

Anyone having good contacts in the former Prussian kingdom is urged to spread the word and start working on the necessary declarations of political status and organizational activities to set up an unincorporated structure competent to manage the funding and work with the Blue Dot bank system.

If nobody gets on the land and gets organized to receive the funding, I will claim it as a viable heir of Freiherr zum und vom Stein and set it aside in a special Fiduciary Account held in The Global Family Bank
