

International Public Notice: Modus Operandi

By Anna Von Reitz

Many of the things that the enemies of mankind do are anti-intuitive and diabolical. The Liars use inverted reasoning. Let's give some examples:

Remember the story in the Bible where Jesus washes the feet of his Disciples? Most people think of this in terms of the Master humbling himself to serve his students -- the Master becomes the Servant.

The Liars think of it in terms of the Servant becoming the Master. Masters become dependent on Servants....and as a result, the Servants become the Masters.

As another example from Christendom:

Most people looking at a Crucifix contemplate the suffering of Jesus and behold their own iniquities; it inspires them to live better lives.

The Liars look at the same Crucifix and think --- death and the devil win every time. Might as well be on the "winning" side.

This same sly and inverted way of thinking makes such people "double-minded". They not only realize that there are two sides to everything, they see both sides immediately, and for expedience, choose the wrong side.

The ends, whatever they are, always justify the means in their view.

The Hegelian Dialectic is perfect for them: create a problem, draw attention to the problem, present the solution to the problem, get paid for solving the problem you created.

Or as one of our Marshals-at-Arms observed: "They create a False Narrative, pretend that I'm their enemy, and fight against what they've created."

This is the Modus Operandi of the Liars in motion, and it is a learned behavior.

Many people who are doing this and demonstrating this "double-mindedness" aren't even aware of what they are doing. Like their more skilled and aware counterparts, they are causing trouble and confusion in the world, but without a clear motive.

They are just doing it to feel like they are doing something important and to get attention for their gossiping and reckless suppositions. Other more adept Liars use the same basic drill to get job advancements, money, and coercive power.

Impersonation and substitution fraud are also deeply ingrained practices among the Liars. Like everything else associated with this Cult, it began in Mesopotamia, in Babylon, and was carried through in the Hebrew tradition as well.

What did Jacob the Liar do, but substitute himself for his brother, Esau, and impersonate Esau to steal his brother's birthright?

How is that any different from what the Liars have attempted to do here and now with our Government and with ourselves?

They have substituted their corporate franchises for our American States-of-States.

They have misrepresented themselves as our custodians in our "absence", when we've been here all along.

They have impersonated us as British Territorial U.S. Citizens. They have impersonated us as Municipal Corporation franchises.

This is no particular reflection upon the Jews. Many ancient peoples used "mirroring" to defraud.

The Phoenicians were famous for it, so much so, that the modern slang word "phony" became popular and the Phoenicians themselves were held in near-universal disrespect and distrust.

Let us suggest that, given the solid evidence, they managed to migrate to Scotland and England and weaseled their way into power using the same old implements: lies, double-mindedness, illusions, reversed logic, substitution, impersonation, misrepresentation, confusion, and the Hegelian Dialectic -- creating problems, solving the problem thus created, and being rewarded for doing so.

In our country, both the offending corporations, the Municipal UNITED STATES and the British Crown entity known as "the United States of America, Incorporated", have both ultimately been owned and operated by the Popes, through their loyal Overseers of the Commonwealth -- the British Monarchs and British Crown operators.

These Principals and their corporations haven't been at war with each other in any sense. Not even a mercenary "war". It has all been sheer pretense for profit, a carrot and stick routine, or perhaps more aptly, a game of Good Cop/Bad Cop, all of it rooted in ancient modes of thinking and doing things first practiced by the Babylonians, Sumerians, and Akkadians.

We very recently witnessed precisely such an old, old practice deriving from these Middle Eastern cultures; the Ritual Killing of the King happened last Saturday, with the attack on Donald Trump.

In this Ritual, a scapegoat impersonates the King, so that assassins or bad luck or whatever evil portents are deceived, and attack the scapegoat instead.

Freemasons are all-too familiar with the drill. The "lost shoe" ritual that was performed on stage last Saturday, the 20-something scapegoat, Donald Trump announcing to the world that he is a "changed man" --- literally; this is all Freemason initiation rites and we can rest assured that DJT has succumbed and is now a member of the Brotherhood, which has been traipsing around the world for 8,000-plus years, deceiving everyone.

Thus, DJT comes under the protection of the Freemasons and collects their votes as well. A young man formerly employed by BlackRock climbs onto a building owned by BlackRock and doesn't quite manage to kill Trump; his "sacrifice" is honored by upbraiding and firing the Secret Service Agent who did his job and took the shot.

We can safely assume that Agent Willis wasn't in on the joke and the secret handshakes. He was crouched there, watching innocent people being shot to death in front of his face while his superiors dithered, and he finally did the right thing.

Agent Willis did his actual job.

What a concept.

Agent Willis is now suffering for saving lives at the Trump Rally last Saturday. He has lost his job and rating, with prejudice, for insubordination to criminally negligent and corrupt superiors--- people who weren't doing their jobs.

Now we get to see if Trump is a Liar or not.

If he is not a Liar, Trump will be grateful and laud Willis and see to it that Agent Willis gets a good job on his own personal staff; but, if Trump is a Liar as well as a Freemason, he will be upset that the drama was cut short by a loyal sniper, and do nothing but stalk off-camera.

Keep posted and see what you see.
