

Quite Possibly the Most Important Announcement You Ever Receive

From Judge Anna Maria Riezinger

Today, the Alaska State Superior Court addressed the claims in equity of heirs from every state of the Union.

For the past two years many false claims have been made, mostly by banks functioning as secondary creditors of one or another "federal corporations" operating on our shores.

They have claimed that there are "no Americans left"--- that we all voluntarily and knowingly agreed to accept the foreign status of "United States Citizen" and "emigrated" to Puerto Rico.

They have claimed that our fathers were all similarly conscripted.

They have claimed that we no longer have a national currency in circulation. (We do.)

They have claimed that "the Republic is dead".

So we have called upon those among us eligible to make a claim on their grandfather's estates and interests and they have come forward from every corner of America to record their expatriation and establish their claim upon all the states of the Union from Alaska to Florida, Maine to California.

The Alaska State Superior Court convened today and reviewed these claims and issued the attached history, judgment, and orders.

Before anyone gets up in arms and thinks that these claims benefit only the claimants to takes offense and thinks that these claims or those making them are "racists"----- the Will being probated is over 200 years old and comes from a time when only white men above the age of 21 who were landowners had standing to inherit or take action before a court of equity.

To this day, married women have to have their husband's permission to sue in equity and must come "through" him to bring suit; he must also confer his right to occupy certain offices to his wife.

These odd and antiquated provisions of the law and the courts are still in place and will remain in place until such time as the people convene a properly seated Continental Congress of Fiduciary Deputies acting on the land jurisdiction of these United States to settle things.

Please read the attached and savor what it means and deliver it to the Members of Congress, the Courts, the politicians, the police, the military, and the US Trustees, Marshals, and others who need to know that the American claim on these united States of America still lives and breathes.
