

Internal Memo: No "Stand Down" Orders

By Anna Von Reitz

There's no "Stand Down Orders" --- there's just lack of money and power on the part of the Harris Administration to do anything, so they are telling everyone to "Stand Down" and preventing civilians from rescuing other civilians --- and costing American lives.

These idiots must be removed and the political party crap has to come to an end right now.

No "legitimacy" can be gained by continuing it.

We are deeply offended that these foreign persons are still being allowed to give "orders" that are costing American lives.

Shut them down and shut them up. Now.

Rescue of flood victims is Job One. Repairing infrastructure is Job Two to be pursued in tandem with Job One.

We have the funding and don't need the approval of any Congress, because the Federation of States doesn't stand under any Constitution. We are the Employers, not the Employees.

So, all government employees at all levels shake a leg and coordinate with our Peacekeeping Task Force. Pay no attention whatsoever to anything that the so-called Harris Administration says.
