

International Public Notice: It's Nothing New

By Anna Von Reitz

This morning the airwaves are vibrating with news of a Supreme Court Scandal and everyone is talking about U.S. Supreme Court Justice John Roberts and his membership in the Middle Innes of Court.

LOL.

These men have been members of the Middle Innes of Court --- and required to be --- since 1789.

Part of the reason that we ever had a British Territorial Subcontractor in the first place was to run the British Courts needed to serve British Territorial Citizens operating in Maritime and Admiralty venues.

This is why the "Federal Court System" was bifurcated in the 1790s and the reason the First Judiciary Act exists.

So it should be no cause for shock to anyone that Justice Roberts and Friends are all members of the Middle Innes of Court.

The fact that it is a shock to so many people, and that includes high ranking members of the present Administration, is an indication of just how secretive the British Territorial Usurpation against their employers has been.

British Territorial effort to impersonate us and to substitute themselves for us and for our institutions has been iron-clad, and it continues today. You will note that Justice Roberts has said nothing to explain his membership in the Middle Innes of Court and that he is accepting punishment rather than "give the game away."

It would be relatively easy for this man to point out what we are pointing out to you today, but his lips remain zipped. No doubt, as an Officer in the British Title System, he has been ordered not to divulge anything about the cozy arrangement the Brits have been taking advantage of all these years.

The recent offer by King Charles III for "the US" to join the British Commonwealth is part and parcel of the deception -- the flip from Territorial to Commonwealth is simply a change from a military protectorate to a civilian status government, and in this case has more to do with Puerto Rico than anything that we all think of as "the US".

The guile, dishonesty, and malfeasance which has been the hallmark of the British Government for centuries (as Shakespeare called them, "perfidious Albion") is still on display today.

No, we do not need a British Commonwealth any more than we need a British Territorial Government in our midst.

What we need is a clean breast of it and "good faith service" from our Federal Subcontractors.

And for pity's sake, realize that Justice Roberts is required to be a member of the Middle Innes of Court.
