

Project Looking Glass

By Anna Von Reitz

The Looking Glass being referenced is an ancient archeological artifact of the Aryan Priesthood used as a predictive tool. It analyzes vibrations, thought and energetic frequencies, time periods, and numerous other "etheric energy patterns" to deduce the likelihood of future events.

In popular movies, it has been previewed to the public in the form of the dangerous Palintir discovered by the Hobbits in the Lord of the Rings, and the Mirror of Destiny that showed Harry Potter whatever he wanted to see most --- his parents.

Of the two, the Mirror in the Harry Potter movie is closer to the nature of the Looking Glass technology, which is more of a measure of how people see things and what they believe and what they fear and only to a coincidental degree, what they desire.

This is because we are not consciously aware of our power to bring what we wish for into manifestation, and so, are led along willy-nilly to whatever destination more aware beings wish to foist off on us and plan for us and so on.

They have been driving around the East Coast for a month with a tactical nuclear weapon in a van awaiting a signal from some quarter to blow it off in the middle of NYC and none of the Generals or the Upmy Ump number of "Intelligence Agencies" is doing anything about it.

I warned them that I could see this van all the way from Alaska using over the counter software. I asked the obvious question --- WTF? If a Great-Grandma is aware of this danger from thousands of miles away in a tiny berg in Alaska, what are we paying the Pentagon, FBI, DHS, CIA, HS, MI5, MI6, and all the other Party Hearties to do "for" us?

Looks more like they are part of a plan to do something "to" us ---- another Filthy False Flag --- what I call a "Three F Fandango" --- cause they are certainly not doing what they are being paid to do, which is to protect us from such threats.

And now we have reports from the "Looking Glass" that a False Flag involving a tactical nuclear weapon is set to go off on April 18th (the Anniversary of the "shot heard round the world") and that misguided "Patriots" are going to do this and Mr. Biden is going to try blaming it on the Russians ---- even though any idiot knows that Russia has less than no reason to attack us and that Joe Biden is positively aching to get involved and obscure his own crimes in the Ukraine.

So, kids, let's change the Mirror, hmm? Imagine a peaceful world and a clean world and a world full of competent public servants who all know that their actual job is to protect American lives and American property, a world in which "Patriots" have their heads screwed on and don't do stupid things, a world in which we don't have False Flags, because our government is no longer a mercenary British Crown Corporation making its money off of war.

Let's just dream it all away and tell that old Looking Glass where our hearts and minds really are.

See this article and over 3600 others on Anna's website here: www.annavonreitz.com

To support this work look for the Donate button on this website.