

International Public Notice: More Proof of Usurpation by Corporations

By Anna Von Reitz

One of the most interesting and blatant ways you can observe the Usurpation against our lawful American Government and all other Lawful Governments impacted by the Great Fraud, is the inversion of the definition of "public and private interests".

The "public interests" of the British Territorial Corporations operating as "States of States", like "the State of Wisconsin" --- are in fact private interests.

The entity doing business as "the State of Wisconsin, Inc." is a foreign, privately-owned, for-profit franchise corporation. It has no actual public interest to promote, but it will pretend to act in "the public interest" and perniciously define its own employees and dependents as the "public" it serves.

This is in contrast to the Public Interests of Wisconsin, the State, which are indeed public and not private at all.

Another way to understand this is to realize that their public is our private, and our private is their public. Everything about the situation and definitions involved are inverted.

Their "public elections" are for their private citizenry and their private corporate offices, and are in fact not public elections in our sense of those same words.

We are often talking about two (or quite possibly three) different "publics".

When they accuse us of running a "private bank", it is from their standpoint, looking over the fence. It's private with respect to their "public", but public with respect to our Public.

From our standpoint, our bank is chartered for the use of our Public, and their maritime commercial banks incorporated for the use of "their public" meaning their British Territorial "state citizenry" and are all private, and not public institutions at all.

Likewise, the State-of-State Statutes are the laws governing their "public", which is limited to their private citizenry and dependents of their corporation; and, despite their heavy-handed enforcement of their statutes on everyone in sight, average Americans, that is -- our public --- does not subscribe to nor stand under statutory law at all.

It's all a matter of which public you are part of -- the actual Public meaning the general population of the country, or, a "private public" --- more oxymorons, again --- composed of corporation employees acting as "foreign citizens" and their dependents.

A particularly egregious example was provided by Franklin Delano Roosevelt during his March 6th 1933 Governor's Conference address, at which he announced the "bankruptcy of the United States of America" --- Incorporated.

The Governors immediately pledged the support of their "states" and the "citizenry thereof".

An innocent Third Party might have assumed that they were talking about our unincorporated Federation of States bearing almost the same name: The United States of America --- until they woke up and considered that bankruptcy protection only applies to incorporated entities.

The same innocent Third Party might assume that they were talking about American States and American State Citizens, but no, they were talking about their own British Territorial "Confederate" States, that is, States of States service organizations, and their own British Territorial corporation's "citizenry", too.

These convoluted and purposefully deceitful deployments of similar names and similar terms, the practice of naming corporations after unincorporated governments, and substituting foreign corporation employees as "the public" and "citizenry" thereof, is part and parcel of the vast constructive fraud that has been played upon the living people and the various countries of the world.

Americans have been routinely led to believe that their country was bankrupt, when in fact, a similarly-named, foreign British Territorial Corporation was the only thing that was bankrupt.

Another instance showing this telltale "upside down and backwards" inversion is the concept of "home rule" and misapplication of "Dillon's Rule" in The United States. These concepts come to us from Britain and operate on the principle that the States rule over the Counties and have the ability to grant --- or not grant --- "home rule".

Again, this can only apply to British Territorial States of States, that is, "Confederate States" that were foisted off on the actual States in the aftermath of the Civil War.

Our American Government and tradition is exactly 180 degrees backwards and upside down from the presumptions of Home Rule and Dillon's Rule, in that our Counties are the sovereign entities in our States of the Union, and are self-determining local governments owing no permission from the State or the Federal Government, so long as they abide by their venerable mutual powers agreements.

Their foreign "Home Rule" and even worse "Dillon's Rule" presumptions assume that their "State of State" has determining power over County Law, because their "States" (Confederate States of States) are franchise corporations and their "Counties" are franchise corporations of their incorporated State-of-State.

Parent corporations get to tell franchises when to hop and where and how high, but American Counties, that is, unincorporated counties, standing on the land and soil of their State of the Union, are only obliged to follow "State" laws, when those laws involve powers or jurisdictions delegated to the States.

American Counties don't have Home Rule or Dillon's Rule, either one. American Counties are the supreme arbiters of local County Law and their Sheriff is the highest peacekeeping official in the country within the borders of his county.

Again, it's a matter of whether we are talking about our American Counties or their British Territorial incorporated County, Inc., franchises.

By now, most people are dizzy, but before we leave the topic, we have to address one of the most pernicious confusions of all.

Each State of the Union (Maine, Virginia, Florida, et al.) was intended to be partnered with a State of State business organization (The State of Maine, The State of Virginia, The State of Florida, et al.). These State of State organizations are called "Confederate States".

Each State of the Union is a member of our Federation of States and each American State of State was intended to be a member of the Confederation of the American States of States.

That Confederation blew apart in March of 1861 and was never restored; instead, the Brits crept in the back door, substituted their British Territorial States-of-States for ours, and went right on rolling as if nothing much had happened --- but something had happened.

The American States of the Union and our People were defrauded out of the control of our own business services and assets by foreign interests pretending to be us or "represent" us, without our knowledge or permission.

This was only made possible via semantic deceit. The American Confederate States like "The State of New York" look amazingly similar on paper to the British Territorial Confederate State doing business as "the State of New York". The only difference that the American Public could possibly notice is that "The" was included as part of the name of the American State of State prior to the Civil War, and was reduced to "the" after the so-called war.

Confederate States, that is, States of States, are not States, but it is common as dirt to hear our Federal Subcontractors refer to them as "States".

Everyone must make the effort to discern the difference between the American Government and the British Territorial United States Government and the Municipal United States Government, and be aware of these differences when dealing with them.

Otherwise, you wind up with a completely incorrect and skewed idea of what is going on and which entity, which public, and which citizenry is being impacted, which law applies, which court has jurisdiction, and even what kind of state or county you are talking about --- corporate or incorporated, American or foreign.

Issued by:
Anna Maria Riezinger, Fiduciary
The United States of America
In care of: Box 520994
Big Lake, Alaska 99652
January 4th 2025

See this article and over 5200 others on Anna's website here: www.annavonreitz.com

To support this work look for the Donate button on this website.