

Second Reply Continued

By Anna Von Reitz

My original Second Reply got lost in the ethersphere and only part of it reappeared once I hit the send button, so I am in the unhappy position of having to reconstruct and hope for the best.

Don, you put your money in a State of California Credit Union that was created in 2014.

You have a copy of the Trade Bank Charter and can clearly see the date of that charter. You managed to read part of it back to me. Why didn't you read the date it was signed, too?

How can you stand there with a straight face and tell me that you thought that old PMA Credit Union had anything to do with me?

You are standing there making all these defamatory statements about me and "my" banks when "my" banks aren't even open yet and you have good cause to know that.

The Trade Bank is fully funded, It has $279 Trillion in gold backing it and billions in bond redemptions. It doesn't have to steal little old ladies' pension money. So just chuck that whole line of "reasoning" if you can call it that.

The Gossip Group got everyone scared about Bank Bailouts and Bail Ins and Hunter agreed to set up a Special Depository Account in his old Credit Union to shelter FRNs until they could be safely exchanged for American Federation Dollars.

So why are you standing there making all these defamatory claims and saying "None of it is true" --- when you KNOW you never put a penny in "my" bank and that you have no cause to complain to me or about me or any bank that I am associated with at all?

Furthermore....

I am not Hunter Aki's Business Partner. I issued the Charter for the Trade Bank. That's a totally different position and responsibility.

Likewise, my position as arbiter pertains to disputes between the Federation and the Bank, not between the bank and individual customers.

Where am I supposed to get the time to act as your personal arbiter? And where did you get the idea that I was responsible for that?

Where did you get the ideas behind any of what you are spewing?

Be honest. I want to get to the bottom of this.

Who is Carl Michael Magnussen? It's not an "alias" for Hunter.

Nobody here knows any such person, including Hunter.

He has a friend named Michael Magnussen that he has known for about 15 years, who obviously isn't Carl Magnussen and isn't Hunter, either.

So you can take that "admission" for what it is worth, too.

Where are you getting all this bunk? No doubt from the same people who encouraged you to sequester your money in a State of California PMA Credit Union--- and didn't explain that you wouldn't be able to access it at a whim if you did?

The same people who knew that the phone numbers and emails would be changing on or about August 26th of last year, but pretended not to know that?

The same people who used that circumstance to heap more doubt and fear and false suppositions on Hunter, while pretending to be his friends and pretending to be "Insiders"?

They came to him and told him I sent them, but I didn't know them or send them. Then they presented themselves to me, as people working with Hunter. See how they worked that?

Well, they are on the short end of it now, and they are wondering why the sun isn't shining on them anymore.

Turns out all that old-fashioned bunk about love and joy and caring for others isn't bunk after all. You miss it when it's gone, and you are left standing there in your small, dirty world, all alone.

You need to make amends, Don. You've wronged me and you've wronged Hunter and you have wronged the Blue Dot Banks, before they even open their doors.

You ought to be ashamed of yourself and I hope you are.

I will give Hunter your email. Be aware that he is very busy this week. If he doesn't get back to you, let me know and I will flag him down again.
