

"Sovereign" Debt Collapse, Forced Migration, and Motivations

By Anna Von Reitz

In the days to come, you will be hearing some odd phrases. One of them is "Sovereign Debt Collapse."

This is a misnomer as most phrases involving the word "sovereign" are.

The guilty parties want you to think that such a thing as "sovereign" debt exists, and the rest of the people who use this phrase think they know what they are talking about ----like those who use the phrase "sovereign citizen"---- but don't really.

In just one transaction, Prince Philip received $950 Trillion Dollars from the GOVERNOR of OTTAWA as payment for Life Force Value Annuities.

The entirety of world debt --- all debt, governmental, private, and personal -- amounts to $303 Trillion Dollars at the present moment.

So what is this nonsense about "sovereign debt collapse"? Obviously, Prince Philip left behind an estate more than competent to pay off world debt and have twice as much left over, based on just one transaction.

They will tell you, oh, it's not that sort of sovereign debt.

But it is.

The guilty parties are trying to pin the tail on the sovereign people and nations of the world, instead of the Sovereigns responsible for this egregious situation.

What a "Sovereign Debt Collapse" actually means is that the Sovereigns are not paying their debts owed to the sovereign peoples and nations.

Remember Joe and Andy?

- (1) Andy walks in, hands a $10 I.O.U. to Joe and Joe gives him a hamburger.
- (2) Joe's hamburger has paid for Andy's debt.
- (3) Now Joe and Andy are both in debt. Joe is in debt to himself, because he is bearing the loss of his labor and materials to create the hamburger, and Andy is in debt to Joe because he never actually paid Joe.
- (4) Because there is no end date to this transaction, Joe can't force Andy to pay.
- (5) The debt of Andy to Joe thus becomes a debt of honor, and the only thing proving that a debt exists, is the Note.
- (6) The same circumstance applies to every such transaction, big or small, that occurs under the same conditions: that is, debt offered as payment, actual goods and services exchanged for debt, no date established for payback.

They are turning their Royal pockets inside out and pretending that they are skint, and furthermore, pretending that they don't know who their Creditors are--- while they are busily killing their Creditors to avoid payment of their Sovereign Debt (Government Debt) to the actual sovereign people of each nation.

So whether it is an actual "Sovereign" like Queen Elizabeth's brood, or a Government Corporation standing in the place of such a Sovereign, the story is the same.

They have the money (actual assets) in their control, because they took (false) title to all the assets, and they have the credit (as debt notes) in endless supply--- because they run the printing presses --- and because there is no set date to repay the people, they stand around and say, "Well, not today....my big toe aches. It's inconvenient. I have a bet placed on the Ukraine War and might have to pay up.... You know how it is...."

Simple enough, isn't it? This is what they always do, century after century. They use the sovereign people and their assets as collateral to borrow credit from the banks, and when the credit can't be supported anymore, they kill their Creditors.

They don't have to pay back the credit to dead people, they get to keep the remaining assets --- land, gold, silver, etc., that they purloined under color of law and authority that they don't actually have, they get paid to clean up the mess they made, and tax the survivors to rebuild everything they destroyed.

So why not kill millions, even billions of innocent people, using a Snake Oil Hoax and coercion?

The Life Force Value Annuities Prince Philip received in April of 2017 are insurance policies on insurance policies that prepaid Prince Philip for the deaths that are occurring now --- which makes no sense until you realize that insurance is nothing but legalized gambling.

Prince Philip sold off his "assumed" interest in all the livestock in the United States and Canada; in his view, and the bank's, that included the people living here. He collected the life insurance annuities as part of the payoff when he sold his ownership interest. You can't insure something if you don't have an ownership interest in it, so....

China bought that presumed-to-exist ownership interest, and has been busily telling Joe Biden what to do ever since. The same thing occurs when corporations change hands in other fields -- if Ryobi buys out Lubbock Tool and Die, the Lubbock brand may remain in evidence, but all the decisions about the company in Texas are now being called by a Japanese Board of Directors.

All this is part of the Vermin's long term plan to move their center of business to China.

Of course, it was all very quiet, no big announcement, but you can hardly move $950 T in a world economy where the accumulated is $303 T without causing a few waves in the bathtub.

Thus, we do have compelling though circumstantial evidence that Prince Philip knew what was coming, and that he was in on it, Big time. Other things like his famous statement that he wanted to come back from the dead as "a loathsome virus" also adds fuel to the circumstantial evidence, as does the decision to sell out his purported North American interests in 2017, just prior to a giant infusion of Royal Cash Assets into HSBC.

I would say that Philip was loathsome enough whatever package he came in, but there is little doubt that he continues to haunt our days right now.

Now, notice who paid him? The GOVERNOR of OTTAWA, that is, the Municipal Corporation "Governor" of the Municipal Corporation of Ottawa, which is an independent international city-state just like Washington, DC, just like Vatican City, just like the Inner City of London, just like the United Nations, just like NYC.

These things have proliferated like putrid ulcers all over the Earth, little Municipal City-States bound under the Roman Civil Law, all theocracies owing tribute to the Roman Pontiff --- and it really doesn't matter what they call the "Papal Bridge" these days. They pretend that Papal Office is closed, but the crime syndicate and the modus operandi remains the same.

Whether you call a Pope a Pontiff or a Pontiff the Pope, the man wearing the hat remains the same. Call me late for supper and things get serious; otherwise, what offices the Pope occupies and what those offices are named, remains a game that the Pope plays without any obligation to tell you or me.

What the Pontiff, or "Papal Bridge" does, is to provide money and banking services of extraordinary kinds, like cashing out Prince Philip and loaning gold to China to do it. Now you know who has been financing and directing the whole move to China for the past thirty-plus years, and we know this is true, because the GOVERNOR of OTTAWA who paid Philip was an aged Catholic Archbishop suffering from cancer, who died soon after this transaction was completed.

Think about it. The Church has been collecting income taxes from the serfs since 1135 A.D. The only change is that we pay a much larger percentage of our earnings than the serfs did. Even what they use the tax money for remains the same: crusades, "holy" war, as if war were ever holy.

Remember Voltaire's quip about the Holy Roman Empire -- that it wasn't holy, wasn't Roman, and wasn't an Empire. We could all say the same about the present situation if we were half as observant as our ancestors.

So, the "Royals" are busily killing off their Creditors for cause. They hate owing people money that they are morally obligated to pay back. It doesn't suit their Royal whim to be in "uncertain debt" to the great unwashed masses who look to them for wisdom and care and guidance, like children mistaking Satan for their kindly Grandfather.

And things are about to get worse, not better.

You might ask how things could possibly get worse? It will get worse because the militaries of the world woke up and began killing off the Royals and all their minions for their many crimes against humanity.

Kill some of them and some members of Congress, purely as scapegoats, and gin up a "war" with China to kill a few million Chinese (more Creditors gone) ---hey, from the military's standpoint, this has been a perfect set up.

They get everything that they want: scapegoats, control of the assets and credit, and a relatively "good" excuse to go after China and retrieve more of the gold and credit the Royals pilfered and which the Chinese borrowed from the Pope.

Remember kindly that all the things these guys are playing with ultimately belong to you and me and the other equally innocent people who stand to die in Shanghai and Peking.

And by the way, the "Open Borders Policy" makes perfect sense.

The American Creditors are being killed by the Snakeoil Hoax, and the Hondurans and Mexicans and Guatemalans are being brought in to replace them as debt slaves. That's why the illegal immigrants are specifically exempted from having to drink the Kool-Aid.

The Royals, and now the militaries, don't owe the South Americans very much and South American lives are not worth much in their scale of things, but the moment they cross the border and can count as "American Assets" these people grow tremendously in value as presumptive inheritors of the various Public Trusts.

These "new Americans" can act as place-holders in the Public Trust Scheme and this will allow the Perpetrators to retain control of all their yummy Slush Funds.

All of this is proving to be a great temptation to the militaries that are involved in the so-called Clean Up.

There are numerous Generals and Admirals who see this as a chance to rule the world behind figurehead politicians --- but wait, that's what they have been doing here since 1863 --- and the only thing preventing them from continuing would be public awakening on a worldwide scale.

Which is happening.

It's almost comical. While they fizzle-fart around standing on first one leg and then another, wondering what kind of narrative they can sell to the ignorant Public, Rome burns.

A strange paralysis has set in, a sort of Three-Way Standoff between those who wonder: "But if we tweaked this just a little bit, we might be able to pull it off...." and those who have very clear visual memories of nooses and Les Miserables, and a third group who actually do have a sense of patriotism and honor.

Just like the Angels in Heaven, it's a three-way split, with one-third going the way of Satan, and two-thirds remaining on the side of God.

So Sydney Powell isn't wrong when she says, "It's Biblical."

There is also very little doubt which side will win the toss up, so long as we all do our parts in the civilian world.

Doing our part means committing full devotion to Rat Watching and Rat Reporting --- sharing the information is of critical importance and dissing the Mainstream Media is, too. People need to know, for sure, that the Media Talking Heads are completely, 100%, and literally ---owned. This serves three desperately needed purposes: (1) it keeps the militaries honest and (2) keeps the Public informed about what we are up against and (3) it breaks the power of the media brain-washing operation.

Does anyone think that it is a coincidence that the BBC's motto is: "Listen and obey"? Millions upon millions of innocent people have listened and obeyed and day by day they are paying the price. It's time that the media moguls and Talking Heads were given The Turning Knob.

All the Spanish and French-speakers among us need to take on an extra burden to explain the situation to the would-be new immigrants from South America, who, having suffered more than we have in this country, will more rapidly understand how they are being used by these Democrats working for China, and the fate that is planned for them here in the "Land of the Free": debt slavery and store-fronting for evil, by any other names.

Here are two exceptionally insightful presentations that you should all watch and study, and share widely ---
