

International Public Notice: It's a Stage and They Are the Players

By Anna Von Reitz

Remember how the bar attorneys came to England? As the Merrie Men, a Theater Company. In Elizabethan England that had many overtones. As we know, the black-robed, white-wigged Galli, the devotees of the goddess Cybele, castrated themselves in her honor and collected taxes for Caesar from the second century BC onward.

And here they are, arrived in England 800 years later, as a theater company. They were famous for playing the women's roles at a time when public law forbade women actors. They were also famous for their homosexual romps and ability to speak and sing -- convincingly -- as women, suggesting a mixed-bag of Continentals coming to entertain and defraud the unwitting British Public, because Protestant Elizabeth I was in debt up to her virgin rump to the Pope.

They were bill collectors for Caesar. They were and are bill collectors for the Pope. They've always been bill collectors --- and thespians --- and they still are, right here in America.

They entertain us with the "appearance" of justice and "courtroom dramas" and produce worn out passion plays about heroes and villains, non-existent debtors and non-existent indentured servants and better still, non-existent slaves, who are all subject to non-existent "laws" that turn out to be codes and statutes and regulations and anything but law, instead.

So, yes, we have been snookered for a very, very long time, by an ancient network of professional con artists, but instead of getting the joke, we've been taken in by their theatrics.

As we wake up, we are naturally angry to the bone and looking for someone to blame; let's look at it squarely for who the culprits are.

(1) The so-called U.S. Military which has been cavorting around the world as a Great Whore, ready for the killing at the drop of a shilling, but of course, never telling the lower ranking soldiers and sailors the score.

(2) The Roman Catholic Church, in its Secular Offices, which has bilked everyone senseless for hundreds of years, an institution that created all the legal fictions that have been used to defraud everything and everyone in sight.

(3) The Loyal Opposition, the Bankers and Lawyers of Fleet Street who aren't Catholic, but who nonetheless serve the Church and act as bill collectors of Rome, the Pope, and the Monarchs -- for a hefty cut of the game.

These are the Players that have encircled and deluded and defrauded the world, together, of course, with many minor players and set designers, vendors, and collaborators.

So we have a military that isn't a military in the thrall of bankers who are idol-worshippers, who work with attorneys who don't actually follow the law, but make a great show of appearing to--- and all of it designed to bilk and defraud the public for the benefit of all these white-collar gangsters.

Now imagine that all this has finally been uncovered. People are waking up. The "audience" isn't fooled any longer. They've felt the fingers on their purse!

What can such a colluding bunch of crooks do, but choose new roles and come up with another "narrative" to try and save themselves from the wrath they are owed?

Now, let's look at the world around us....

We are being told that the Great and Glorious Military Earth Alliance is here to save us and usher in a world of peace and plenty; we are told that they are destroying the evil cabal and hunting down the "Vatican" monsters who they portray as pedophiles and murderers and drug dealers of the most depraved kind.

Or are they just doing what they always do --- demonizing their enemy and trying to make themselves look good? Passing off the blame to their former partners?

Using all these purported military trials and executions to get rid of the witnesses? Are they really destroying underground cities and tunnels of the shadowy "cabal" or instead, blowing up the evidence? Tidying up the crime scene and scape-goating the civilian colluders?

Come on, kids, after all this, you have to be a bit beyond skeptical.

How does this square with Trump pushing the mRNA vaccines down our throats and spending $10 billion on these products to destroy the human genome and depopulate America? You may like Trump. You may admire his business acumen. But that's what he did.

Biden, too, a different flavor of the same old munge, a different spin to the same result.

Both these men had reason to know the truth.

We had a wonderful video we wanted to share of Ron Paul commenting on remarks made by Senator Lindsey Graham, but unfortunately, that video disappeared, whereabouts unknown.

The gist of it was Graham describing how rich Ukraine is in Rare Earth Minerals and how Trump will cut a deal with Ukraine to buy all its Rare Earth Minerals (and together with Zimbabwe) establish a monopoly share interest in the world market for these minerals.

Just like Zimbabwe, they already had a puppet dictator of their own choosing to deal with. Joe Biden could have cut the same kind of deal, so obviously, he had a different set of instructions, even though he was also thick as thieves with Zelensky.

Then Graham observed that half of Africa eats because of Ukraine and controlling the food supply of Africa would be very profitable and yield great coercive power over the people.

Graham didn't know or care what his comments revealed to the folks back home. Or to Ron Paul.

Some people have suggested that Joe was all about payola to Zelensky in exchange for laundered campaign contributions for Democrats:

No doubt there has been no end of that, too. but we don't believe that was the real leverage. No, Bigger Fish were in the Ukraine. Fish that aimed to use Ukraine in all the ways that Trump plans to use Ukraine, and then some. NATO had big plans to use Ukraine as a new power base and buffer zone, positioned right next to Russia.

We can still hear U.S. Secretary of State James Baker promising Russia that NATO wouldn't move an inch eastward, if Russia accepted the reunification of Germany.

Not an inch.

Several thousand kilometers later.... Russia has fired an Intercontinental Ballistic Missile carrying nine (9) warheads at Mach Nine (9).

So the hot air steaming down like a fire hose from Washington, DC, has been simply and succinctly answered. All the empty self-serving lies have been handed back to NATO, and we observe that NATO should be liquidated anyway.

A club for monopolistic corporate interests seeking to install puppet governments to ensure market control, is called a cartel, not a treaty organization. Admiral Bauer should remember that the actual government of this country has its own Admiralty Law, which still allows keel-hauling.
