

International Public Notice: Sorting Out State Authority

By Anna Von Reitz

In America, the Federal Government Subcontractors are all limited to function in international and global jurisdictions. They are thus entirely limited to function as Legal Fictions ---"Persons", not living people --- so the entire subject of biological health is naturally precluded and excluded from the Federal Constitutions --- and that's why.

This subject is also beyond the reach of any Federal Corporation franchises operating as State-of-State organizations or similar Municipal organizations.

Virtually none of their delegated authorities reach down to the level of the living people populating our States of the Union. The exceptions are confined to control of officially ceded federal properties (Post Offices, Naval Yards, etc.,) the manufacture, sale, and transportation of alcohol, tobacco, and firearms, and voluntary participation in interstate commerce --- specifically, maritime commerce.

There is absolutely no grant of any power over anyone's health or medical decisions whatsoever, so the only presumption of such a power must arise from the additional presumption of employment by or dependency upon the Municipal United States Government and the legitimate existence of privately contracted obligations as "citizens of the United States".

This would be analogous to an employment contract that required you to give up control of your own body --- slavery, in other words.

As we have already provided in prior Notices, the Great Fraud begins with an undisclosed and unconscionable British Territorial U.S. Citizenship contract being foisted off onto American babies, and ends with the creation of a Municipal United States corporation franchise operating "in their names" as a United States citizen as described by 42 USC 9102 (18) (c).

As these Legal Fiction entities are created by fraud against babies, they are null and void and so is any supposed administrative power over them.

These "citizens of the United States" are slaves by definition and are defined as franchise corporations, so are not living beings and cannot be the subject of biological health measures anyway.

The only exceptions are those actually employed by the Municipal United States Government, who could theoretically be imposed upon as a condition of their political status and employment.

Thus, Joe Biden's compliance with WHO contracts and "treaties" can only apply to Municipal Federal Civil Service Employees and their Dependents, and only if they agree, because slavery is outlawed in this country and has been outlawed worldwide since 1926.

It's similar to Joe Biden's compliance with the Open Borders Policy. He can open his Municipal borders all he likes, but not ours.

Neither the Federal Government Subcontractors nor their State-of-State franchises have any authority or delegated power to enter into any health treaties on our behalf and nobody who isn't directly employed by the Municipal Government can be legitimately impacted by Joe Biden's edicts in these matters.

Anyone supposing otherwise is invited to show cause, remembering that there are no war powers available, because there have been no wars --- only Mercenary Conflicts for the past 160-plus years.

All this doesn't stop Biden from making False Claims and that doesn't stop his minions from causing trouble, but the bottom line fact is that he has no actual treaty-making authority related to this subject and can't deliver on any international health treaties.

To summarize:

Joe Biden is the President of a governmental services corporation, not this country.

The above-mentioned governmental services corporation is limited by the fact that its contract for services exists only in international and global jurisdictions and doesn't include any treaty-making powers related to public health.

It's further limited in that the vast majority of people it claims are part of its citizenry -- aren't. They are Americans who have been the victims of a nasty European fraud scheme, and have never been citizens of the Municipal United States at all.

Any and all powers related to Public Health are vested in our States of the Union, and we choose not to yield our sovereignty in the matter to the UN CORP, WEF, or any other global institution.

We note with pleasure that even State-of-State Governors are tearing up their contracts with these service providers and telling these miscreants to pound sand.
