

International Public Notice: We Called It

By Anna Von Reitz

We told you there was no "National Debt" --- just a lot of dishonest bookkeeping. We told you that the Federal Reserve was trading on Blood Money --- the labor, inventions, and performances of living people who never owed the Federal Reserve Banks a penny. We told you that the seigniorage from the debt note currency was being stolen from the American people as a result of the foreign Federal Reserve monopoly.

We exposed how the issuance of a single Federal Reserve Note I.O.U. garnered not only the seigniorage (difference between the cost of printing and face value of the "note") plus the goods and services exchanged for the I.O.U. initially, but also resulted in a cascade effect, where repeated exchanges of the notes resulted in more and more actual goods and services being exchanged for the same I.O.U. during the useful life of an individual Federal Reserve Note.

That is, a single $10 Federal Reserve Note garners $10 worth of actual goods and services each time it is exchanged, and that same note could be exchanged over 3,000 times before it gets too tattered to continue in circulation. That's $30,009.96 in pure inequitable profit per $10 Federal Reserve Note, realized as actual goods and services ---- and that is what generates the "debt", because the actual goods and services are never paid for.

Who ultimately owes this debt? The commercial corporations masquerading as our government, which go bankrupt, and foist this debt back onto the victims of this crime.

As long as this "system" continues, the debt accumulates on one side of the ledger, and all the credit for all the goods and services received is simply ignored. The books are never balanced.

This creates the appearance of an ever-accumulating "National Debt" on the part of the American people, when in fact the American people have been paying in goods and services, over and over again, the entire time.

The fraud artists running the banks have been quick to charge us interest on this illusory unspecified "national debt" --- which is in fact their debt to us.

Not only are Federal Reserve Notes a complete fraud against the Public, so are any and all "Debt Note" currencies.

When they realized that the game was up for the Federal Reserve Note, they tried to switch to "United States Notes" purportedly backed by gold.

But whose gold would be backing these "USNs"? Ours. The same victims as before would be paying for this, only now the Perpetrators would be trading directly on our hard assets and charging us for using our own gold and silver as "their" money.

Let's get this straight. None of this is theirs. Both the assets and any credit generated from the assets, is ours. Any profit generated by the practice of usury -- that is, interest charged on loaning either our hard assets or our credit -- is ours, not theirs.

Bad bookkeeping and constant inflation of the currency is the only way they kept this scheme afloat for as long as they did, and now, it's going down the tubes where it belongs, but consider --- are Federal Reserve Notes actually "value-less" when they have been used to capture mammoth amounts of actual goods and services?

Who, actually, owes the "National Debt"?

It's not the commercial corporations that have claimed our bankruptcy protection and palmed it back onto us. We don't own those corporations. Those corporations are owned by the Popes, the Lord Mayors of London, and the British Monarchs. They are the Principals and Shareholders and Beneficiaries. Not us.

The American People have been grossly defrauded by their Federal Employees and Subcontractors, who have acted in Gross Breach of Trust and Violation of their Service Contracts --- the Constitutions.

So the FRNs are toast, the USN's also, and their next ideas, SDRs and CBDC's --- "Special Drawing Rights" and "Central Bank Digital Currencies" --- were never well-thought out, and have failed on their own lack of merit. What next?

Cliff High just published a podcast this morning, December 1st 2024, entitled (don't blame us) "Trump Fucked Up!" in which he presents this information as something yet to come -- offers to fix the system (QFS), offers to "rebirth" the system (USNs), offers to rethink the system (CBDCs) -- and he somehow missed the point that all of this has already happened and already been rejected.

We are left with the fact that in the Great Cyber Reality of Energy and Matter, (1) billions of people have been defrauded by a monetary system run "in our names" by foreign Subcontractors of ours; (2) we've been the chief victims of this breach of trust; (3) their National Debt results in a vast National Credit owed to us and to other nations that have been victimized by this.

We need to balance the books.

Debt, like credit, is a relatively ephemeral thing. Once you realize that "Federal Reserve Notes" are chits like poker chips and merely represent credit or debt, depending on which side of the table you are on, you can see that Federal Reserve Notes --- from our side of the table --- represent vast amounts of prepaid credit.

We already paid, multiple times over, with actual goods and services, for every single one of those Federal Reserve Notes, so instead of owing them as debt -----for us and all the other living people, Federal Reserve Notes represent prepaid credit. They acquired that value every time they were exchanged for actual goods and services.

Read that: from the standpoint of living people, Federal Reserve Notes represent prepaid credit, not debt.

The sensible thing to do, is to collect all the Federal Reserve Notes and reissue them, plus the seigniorage, plus the interest we've been charged, as prepaid credit certificates, PCCs. As we have already paid for the credit in actual goods and services, multiple times over, there can be no objection to this.

These new prepaid credit certificates are by definition "asset backed" already.

The guilty Principals responsible know that this is true, and are simply trying to avoid the fact that even credit instruments are now asset-backed.

There is no way left for them to weasel things around and pretend that they are owed any debts at all. Not in fact (gold or silver). Not in the realm of credit (plus and minus on a ledger).

For the first time in human history, we are faced with a situation in which there is no debt. There is only abundance.

So let's enjoy it. We've earned it. And then some.

For the religious among us, this is the Double-Golden Jubilee that the rats have delayed for over 800 years.

For Mr. Trump --- wake up, get with the program, and benefit everyone on Earth instead of threatening everyone with 100% tariffs on imported goods.

This is a time for free and honest trade, kindness, compassion, common sense, and brotherly love.

We told the United States Mint to strike the new coinage over two years ago, have issued the American Federation Dollar (AFD) ---gold backed--- for active trading, and are in the short term issuing our Harmony Digital Coin as a means of sharing the largesse of prepaid credit. Slightly longer term, we are issuing Valorum-style cash instruments and Prepaid Credit Certificates.

You, Mr. Trump, need to stop struggling with something you apparently don't understand, and come along with us to a far better world than you are currently imagining.
