

The Deadening Effect

By Anna Von Reitz

Those with whom we contest in this spiritual war have forced six generations of people on this planet to live their lives as if already dead.

They have been worked to death, constantly tormented by worries and fears, plagued with pains and diseases, afflicted with mindless lusts and persistent melancholy, deprived of even the simplest comforts and securities that they have needed to live, and the basics of food and shelter and clean water. Everything has been withheld without sanity or reason.

And why? To expedite an insurance scam which was already outlawed in 1702.

Today, on this Memorial Day 2018, lift up your heads and take a deep breath.

Remember those who have died for no good reason.

And make it your business to live life fully and well.

Open up to the Greater One that you are part of and fear nothing and no one.
