

Down the River? Here's a Paddle.

By Anna Von Reitz

There were two important moments in more or less recent past time when "our public servants" took things into their own hands and really betrayed us to serve themselves and their political masters.

The first round came in 1937 with the advent of the Council of Governments, a John D. Rockefeller idea designed to promote collusion among various levels of the foreign "federated" government holding sway in the wake of the Great Depression, and a build-up of war-time preparations because the so-called "elite" were already busy planning WWII.

Nelson and David Rockefeller continued to use this mechanism in the Post-War years and to fund it. You will find unelected "councils" of County Governments, State Governments, and yes, at the Federal level, too, all funded by the Rockefellers and their cronies as a means of influence peddling and kickback delivery. Look around where's your nearest "council of governments"?

A couple years ago I went to the local "Council of County Governments" building in Belton, Texas. It was all gleaming marble like something out of NYC, with a reception desk worthy of the United Nations, manned at the time by one lonely security guard armed with a side-arm and a plethora of electronic surveillance equipment.

So what are these organizations plunked down in the middle of our communities? They are elitist clubs for people engaged in county government. Here, they get all the latest Eurozone Big Ideas pumped into them as if by intravenous feeding. Here, they are made to feel "special" and powerful, and their egos and pocketbooks are stuffed full.

This is how the Rockefellers and the IMF and all their Cronies sell things like "the New Green Deal" and convince otherwise sane people that "Covid 19" exists as a virus, and deliver pallets of bricks to street corners in areas designated "Riot Districts".

This has been going on since 1937. When you think of the Flying Monkeys, well, here they are, in their marble halls, with their huge over-built reception counters. See the Buck Act passed in 1940 for a taste of what they were pushing then, and what these traitors used to "draft" and murder untold thousands of men during WWII and Korea and Vietnam.

Another such incursion happened in 1976-1980 with the passage of a new raft of nasty BS from our employees who are still evidently seeking to find their place.

There they are, happily doing what they do best --- disposing of what doesn't belong to them--- or trying to.

Those who have been following along for a while already know why the Department of Defense failed to deploy the 10,000 troops President Trump asked for.

Washington, DC is an "independent, international city-state".

We don't own it, though two States, Maryland and Virginia, still own the land and soil that the foreign Capitol sits upon. As I have repeatedly told everyone, this international city-state is run as a foreign oligarchy by the members of the Municipal Congress. See Article I, Section 8, Clause 17.

And just like all the foreign undermining provided by the Councils of Government, and the Jimmy Carter Administration, this is another example of how foreign political interests have gained inroads and wrecked havoc for their own self-interest.

So--- Council of Governments is bad news, the Democratic Political Party Lobby is bad news, and so is the international city-state of Washington, DC, and all the rats in Congress who have used it plunder and pillage, conscript, and abuse the people that they are supposed to serve in Good Faith.
