

Fiduciary Deputies v. "Representatives"

By Anna Von Reitz

As I have repeatedly been drumming into heads from here to Lithuania, our actual American Government is separate from the United States Government and always has been.

The actual American Government is not based on "Representatives". It functions via Fiduciary Deputies.

A Fiduciary Deputy is paid to perform a service and that service is to responsibly and accountably manage money and resources in Good Faith and according to The Prudent Man Standard. A Fiduciary Deputy must be discreet, logical, attentive, and loyal in promoting the best interests of the people they work for.

When the People of Minnesota choose two Delegates who are Fiduciary Deputies to represent the interests of Minnesota as Senators attending a Continental Congress, you may be sure that those Senators are there to promote the welfare of Minnesota and Minnesotans within the larger framework of the entire country and the world as a whole.

If such Fiduciary Deputies sell out Minnesota, America, or the Global Good for money, power, prestige, or for any other selfish ill-gotten motive, they can be held 100% liable--fired, fined, or jailed. Throughout their term of service, Fiduciaries have to report back to the People and can be removed from office by a recall initiative.

Fiduciary Deputies, whether they act in a public or a private capacity, are thus accountable and required to act as honest men and honest caretakers of money and resources belonging to others. You tell your Fiduciaries what you need done, and it is their job to do it.

Compare that with "Representatives".

Once you give them your permission to act in your behalf by participating in their elections, they are off like a herd of wild horses, doing whatever they want to do.

You are in fact giving your own Proxy Vote to a member of a Political Lobby, and this amounts to handing him or her a General Power of Attorney obligating you to pay for and support whatever your "representative" votes for.

99% of the time, you don't even know this person. All you see is their smiling face and a few words on a poster or heard on a radio or TV ad.

Does this make sense to you, that you would give your Power of Attorney to a total stranger and agree to pay for whatever they vote for?

Such a Representative is not accountable to you. Once you hand him or her your vote, they get to exercise it with complete impunity and immunity, and all you get is the bill.

If they sell you and your State down the river, your only recourse is to oust the rat in the next election cycle. If the Little Piggy buys off enough other voters via his bad behavior, greases enough palms, hands out enough candy from your purse, he is likely to stay in power despite your wishes.

And since balloting is secret, there is no way to wash your hands of these representatives whether you actually voted for them or not. If you participate in such an election at all, you are accountable for the results.

The bad smell of all this follows you like a garlic and baloney sandwich.

The lack of accountability of these representatives and their basic nature as political lobbyists guarantees a virtual feeding frenzy when they meet in their version of a US Congress --- and it is always a frenzy in which the Public Good is sacrificed to lust for money, power, votes, expedience, commercial expansion, favoritism, and most of all, unbridled control.

The Democrats openly buy votes and shamelessly promote political agendas that they just as shamelessly undermine. The current Border Crisis is a good example of it.

To hear the Spin, you would think that their support of Open Borders and opposition to the Border Fence was grounded on ideals and principals of "Human Rights" and schlock of the "Give me your poor...." kind.

Their actual victims, the newly arrived immigrants, are naturally beguiled and encouraged to vote Democrat the rest of their lives.

However, the instant that Juan Julio Cortez from Honduras crosses our border, his value as a slave increases a thousand fold. Why? Americans are far more valuable in the world slave market than Hondurans.

Clink-clink, Juan Julio just handed his Power of Attorney and his vastly increased value as a slave to Nancy Pelosi. He doesn't know it, but just by being re-labeled as an "American", he is providing the political lobbies in DC new blood to suck, and here's the real kicker---- new assets to claim as chattel backing their spending habit.

The Republicans are Pigs of a different kind. Instead of being complete hypocrites and whores, they only sell to the Highest Bidder, which in practical terms means Wall Street, the Churches, or the Military Industrial Complex. They are brutal, rapacious, often unkind and arrogant and clever enough to hide their total ruthlessness behind a curtain of civility.

It's just a question of what kind of Nasty you choose, because its all the same motivations, all the same lack of accountability, all the same evil--- and just a matter of what kind of antacid you take after voting.

The solution was provided to us by our Forefathers: don't vote in these elections. Don't register to vote in them. Ever. And if you make the mistake of registering to vote, contact their "State of State" Division of Elections and ask to be removed from their Voter List.

This is anti-intuitive, as most people who care about this country think that they have to vote and believe that it is their last little shred of control over the madness in DC.

However, what it really means is that: (1) you retain your General Power of Attorney and (2) you aren't obligated to pay the bill.

When the British-backed Territorial Government adopted the "corporate constitution" in 1868, nine million Americans were disenfranchised and permanently prohibited from voting in their elections. It is in fact a crime to vote in their elections if you aren't a federal employee or dependent.

So why are you voting in foreign elections? Why are you participating in this craziness at all?

What you should be doing is to "Come out of Babylon" and restore your own sane and solid government of the people, by the people, and for the people, including hosting your own elections.

This is the only way that Americans can regain control of America --- stop voting for Representatives and start electing Fiduciary Deputies instead.

As you one-by-one stop participating in the political sideshow, your powers of attorney and your assets are returned and protected, which is a huge benefit to you and yours. As you assemble your actual State Government and start sponsoring your own election of Fiduciary Deputies, the world gets turned right side up again. Accountability comes back into view.

Your votes are needed all right --- but they are needed in the right elections for the right fiduciary officers. They can then step into their place in the hierarchy and control all the rest of the now-run amok government service providers.

Both from the standpoint of protecting yourself and protecting your country, you need to boycott all the political party elections and put your time and energy into restoring your lawful government and electing your fiduciary officers. Only then will you have the accountable and responsible government that you are owed.
