

Fool Me Once....

By Anna Von Reitz

By now you have been enabled to directly observe the British usurpation and their cuckoo-bird substitution of British Territorial “States of States” for our American States-of -State organizations back in the 1860’s.

Our “Confederate State” doing business as The State of Wisconsin was replaced by their British Territorial State of State doing business as “the” State of Wisconsin— and this was repeated in every other State, too.

If you have been following along you also observed the French Government trying to partner up with these interloping U.S. Citizens to spin off a French version of this same scheme only at the Federal level. I called this La Neu Republique. It was about as “American” as Croissants for breakfast.

So the backers of that effort have turned around and are now trying to substitute a British Doppelgänger for our Federal Republic.

I guess if they got away with it once, they see no reason they shouldn’t get away with it twice?

Except that the Americans are awake now, and that might make a difference?

I see these idiotic statements that “the” United States of America (the British Territorial Government) has been restored to our original constitutional Federal Republic— but the British Territorial entity: (1) isn’t our Federal Republic and never was, and (2) doesn’t belong to our Federal Republic — so what kind of bushwah are they trying to spin now?

Trying to substitute their British Territorial Government for our American Federal Republic.

Call it the Brit Republique and just say no, folks.

No more substitutions. No more lies. No more usurpation. Just get back in your Limey Boxes and stay there like good little Hooligans.

Our Federal Republic was and is chartered under The Constitution for the united States of America and operated by our American Confederation of States.

If we wanted Brits and British Business interests in charge of our affairs and in control of our Federal Republic, don’t you think we would have set it up that way in the first place?

We didn't do that in 1787 and we aren't going to fall for another such vainglorious substitution now.

The Queen's Territorial Government needs to play it's agreed upon role, no more, no less. And that does not include trying to foist itself off on us as our own long-lost American Federal Republic.

Thanks, but no thanks. Been there, done that, ain't going back.

Our States are in Session now and working on reconstruction of our own American States of States.

Once that is done, their Confederation operating as the States of America will be able to follow the dots and operate our genuine American Federal Republic with amazingly little British "help" required.

Meantime, the British Territorial contract is up for grabs. Don't you think you should be paying attention to securing that and keeping the limited legitimate role you have, instead of trying to pull off another fraud-filled substitution of British Territorial interests as anything American?

See this article and over 2700 others on Anna's website here: www.annavonreitz.com

To support this work look for the PayPal buttons on this website.