

My Bad Attitude

By Anna Von Reitz

First point-- this can be an ugly world. And I have seen plenty of that ugliness. I have seen how every nasty, prurient, self-serving, lousy aspect of human nature gets "employed" by the Satanists among us and how every virtue can be twisted to serve the Devil, too.

Some people call this a "Bad Attitude". Others recognize it as wisdom.

There is, in fact, a Bad Attitude that is required, if you don't want to be taken in and messed with and abused. You have to be skeptical. You have to be hard. And sometimes, you have to be rude, too. Second point --- we are dealing with Satanists, whether we wake up and realize it or not. Satanists and their flunkies make up around thirty percent of the population.

And Satanists worship the Father of All Lies.

They lie about anything and everything. They lie for money. They lie for amusement. They lie for political advantage. They lie simply to lie.

Third point --- think about what you are being asked to believe.

Normal children who are harmed by predators go to their parents and tell them that they have been hurt. Why? Because they trust their parents to protect them and help them feel better. The parents then report the abuse to the police.

The police investigate. Reports and complaints are generated. All sorts of interviews take place, including mental health interviews, medical examinations, and so on.

If there is sufficient evidence, charges are brought.

So what kind of child doesn't report abuse?

The children of Satanists don't, because their own parents abuse them the same way.

If Uncle Marty rapes you, it's no big deal because Daddy already did the same.

And there is nowhere to go in the mind of such a child, because if they go directly to the police, all they will get is more abuse, or, they will wind up dead.

So, enter Professor Ford and all the people coming forward with claims of rape and sexual molestation and attacks from thirty years ago.

The Big Question in my mind is, and has to be: "Why am I just hearing about this now?"

This question is rapidly followed by: "Why didn't you tell your parents?" and if they were old enough, like Professor Ford -- "Why didn't you report it to the police?"

I have to be hard-boiled. I have to ask these questions. And so should you.

Bearing False Witness is part of the Satanist's religion. They think its a great when when they tell a Whopper and garner some advantage for themselves.

Their law is: "Let him who will be deceived, be deceived."

You get no points for being gullible.

If they can't get someone into a compromised position, that inconvenience doesn't necessarily stop them. They will lie and say they did anyhow.

Satanists use lies as tools to accomplish goals and make money, and once you understand that, your innocent Bleeding Heart impulses get seriously curtailed. For example:

There is an entire industry that lures young girls into lives of prostitution. It works like this. They look for and target girls that are dissatisfied with their family for some reason: they have to share a room with an obnoxious younger sister, they don't get an allowance, their parents expect them to work during the summer, they don't have a car, parents won't let them party, and blah, blah, blah.

Then the sympathetic Recruiter tells them how easy it is to be "emancipated"--- set free from all the disciplines and hardships of life at home. All you have to do is tell a school nurse or some other ready ear that your Father molested you, and the court will set you free.

Just say it, whether he did anything or not. Lie.

They don't mention all the nastiness the victim will endure once they do it. Nobody tells them that their family will be destroyed, that their parents will most likely divorce even if the Big Lie is exposed, and how their younger siblings will be thrown into the Foster Care System.

Nobody mentions the double-bind these girls put themselves in--- how they will be shamed and pitied no matter what they do.

And most of all, the Silver-Tongued Devils never tell these young ladies that after you are "emancipated" at the tender age of fifteen or sixteen, there is still a need to find a place to live, to earn your keep and make a life without the support and love and network of a family---- because guess what?

You destroyed all that.

After the dust dies down and the social workers move on to the next case, the Recruiters befriend the victim. They take her out and show her a good time and they suggest the "lifestyle" she can have as a whore.... all she has to do is lay on her back, spread her legs, and make plenty of money. And since she is too young to have any other skills.....

This has been going on non-stop for decades in America, and with all the billions of dollars spent on police protection and investigation, nothing gets done about it. And no matter how often the social workers hear the same story and see the same results, they never report it, never put two and two together.

Their story--- and they are sticking to it --- is that millions of American Fathers diddle their daughters, and that the girls are so "damaged" by this, that they gravitate into lives as prostitutes. Fourth point --- all this is BS.

These girls are being misled and coached, deliberately, to make false accusations against their Fathers and other male caregivers. They are being sold a bill of goods for the purpose of recruiting them as whores.

And that is just one particularly nasty example of how the Satanists among us work to destroy lives, create victims, and then prey upon them for profit ---- and all via the simple vehicle of a Lie. Did Kavanaugh get drunk as a teenager and paw over Ms. Ford?

Here's my Bad Attitude:

If it didn't matter enough to Ms. Ford to report it when it happened thirty years ago, it surely doesn't matter to me now.
