

A Non-Person. Yes, That's Right.

By Anna Von Reitz

Yesterday, Robert David Steele wrote to us about how he is "smashing Anna" with his new video and saying, "Anna is a non-person." And he will never speak to me again.

Looks like he finally figured out what I was trying to tell him for two years running. He finally got it. I am a non-person.

No office of personhood related to the US, INC. or USA, Inc. for me.

I accept acting as an unincorporated Lawful Person, but otherwise, no thanks. Personhood isn't for me. I like saying what I mean and meaning what I say. I like the truth come what may. I actually prefer what is actual and factual and dislike legal fictions to the bone.

I don't like cloak and dagger, either. Never have. And I don't believe in secrecy, because I know that just on the other side of the veil, absolutely everything is known anyway. Might as well let it all hang out, because God isn't deceived.

You can't build your own credibility by lying about anything --- or anybody. Life doesn't work that way. And forget about secret agendas.

We are going back to work and doing our job to self-govern our own country, and that is all there is to it.

No need for movie footage, music, and special effects. We were here before Hollywood and we'll be here afterward, too. If the Actors Union doesn't figure out who pays the bills, that time will be coming sooner than later.

So, here I am, one of the people of this country. Not a person.

And Robert David Steele finally got that straight.

I am mildly encouraged.
