

None of This is About Politics

By Anna Von Reitz

Clue: None of This is About Politics

This is about crime. Commercial crime. It's about corporate moguls conspiring to enslave average people and forcing those average people to pay taxes and fees that the corporate moguls and their corporations owe.

It's about corporations using and abusing the powers of the government to protect themselves and their bosses at the cost of everyone and everything else.

It's about foreign governmental services corporations masquerading as the American Government, impersonating us and accessing our credit under conditions of fraud and color of law.

It's about the fact that the Municipal Corporations that have done this, are forfeit for their crimes. Think of every US Corporation in America being placed under new management, and a lot of the top bosses going to jail.

Trillions of dollars worth of corporate assets are on the table. The Vatican is not happy, because it loses control of those assets and income from those assets. The investor groups backing and feeding into the Vatican, mostly EU governmental services corporations and huge banks, aren't happy, either, because they stand to lose money and power, too.

They've had a hay day bilking the Americans for 150 years and they not only don't want to give up the gravy, they want to increase their "share"---- when in fact they are not owed a penny. Quite the opposite.

Like people who have lived on welfare so long that they can't imagine having a job and fending for themselves, these European "governments" --- which are incorporated governmental services corporations and not actual governments --have grown used to the American Teat.

Although they constantly grumble and complain and there is never enough payola for them, they have in fact gotten so fat, so corrupt, and so lazy that the very thought of having to pay something back, maybe accept another 2% of their own defense costs, makes them livid.

Why should they have to pay for their own defense costs? The Americans are responsible for that. The Americans provide that service for them and pay for 98% of that service, too. It's been that way since WWII. Why shouldn't the Americans just go on paying?

The Americans are supposed to pay for all the carbon taxes and renovation costs of re-tooling industries to meet zero carbon emission goals, too. The cost of this new European Taxation Scheme is ultimately supposed to be paid for by America. China, meanwhile, belches soft coal factory exhaust straight into the atmosphere.

All these big media corporations desperately trying to suppress the news, trying to censor communications, and taking other "irrational" actions like trying to shut down the President's Twitter Account ---- are actually fighting for their lives.

They know that they are going to be liquidated for crimes against the Public Law and crimes against humanity. They know they deserve it, too.

Their officers and owners and Board Members and shareholders are going to be subject to punishment of various kinds, but most importantly, there will be profit losses and new management and new oversight and new public policies.

A lot of people are going to lose their jobs, not eligible for rehire.

A lot of Agencies are going to be shut down and their corporate owners are going to be arrested and punished.

This isn't exactly the kind of housecleaning many people have been expecting, but it is nonetheless what is needed.

The political parties are nothing but great, big, bloated, corrupt, nasty corporations, too. Guess what? Both the Republicans and Democrats hate Donald Trump, because he has guts enough to enforce the Public Law and take away the source of their corporate power.

They might have to work for a living, too.

So stop thinking of this in terms of "Republican" v. "Democrat". It's really nothing like that. It's the people of the world against rogue corporations and criminal, predatory business enterprises---sheltered monopolies, interlocking trust syndicates, the abuses of so-called "government" corporations, commodity rigging, interstate bank fraud, rigged courts, and so much more.

This entire crisis is about crimes committed by corporations against living people worldwide.

And the Pope, as we pointed out a couple days ago, is responsible for this Mess, because instead of riding herd on all the various corporations and regularly disciplining and liquidating those that go bad, the Pope and the Roman Curia responsible for creating all these legal fictions, have turned a blind eye.

The corporations can do no wrong because they turn profit, and when you worship Mammon instead of the True God, that's all that matters.

We have offered them the possibility of peace based on liquidation of a small number of corporations and patents associated with those corporations in lieu of liquidation of all US CORPS.

This would serve as an object lesson to all the other corporations worldwide and encourage them to get back in line.

Those that still don't get the message can be dealt with one by one.

There is a reason that Warren Buffet met with Bill Gates soon after the Covid-19 scandal began, and kicked Bill off the Board of Berkshire Hathaway.

Warren Buffet remembers the power of the Public Law and our ability to utterly destroy offending corporations, whether those corporations are media companies, or political parties or courts.

See this article and over 2900 others on Anna's website here: www.annavonreitz.com

To support this work look for the PayPal buttons on this website.