

No, We Are Not Working For or With "The Vatican"

By Anna Von Reitz

Once again, the idiocy abounds.

We are addressing the Vatican and the Holy See at an international level concerning the Great Fraud (and their culpability for it) and various people in our Assemblies have served Notice on the Archbishops to fully inform them of the skullduggery going on and their personal and professional liability for it.

This is not the same as working with the Vatican.

What we are doing is serving Notice and Due Process to the Holy See, which is a different part of the Church Hierarchy entirely --- and the Principal (besides the Pope) which is ultimately responsible for the misadministration of The Constitution of the United States and the Municipal Government of the United States.

Most Americans have yet to learn that they have Federal Subcontractors, much less the fact of who these Subcontractors are, or the fact that these Subcontractors have been operating in Breach of Trust, even though these same people suffer the consequences of this situation every day.

As I noted yesterday, there are many people in America who are ignorant or can't read or both.

They don't know the difference between "the Vatican" and "the Holy See"---all they've heard about is "the Vatican" so they assume that what we are doing concerns the Vatican operations--- which it does, but only tangentially and as a result of mis-administration by the Holy See.

They also can't distinguish the difference between acting as a "private attorney" for a Pope to serve Due Process on employees of his (which I did for seven years during the tenure of Pope Benedict XVI) versus being "an Agent of the Vatican". That's rather like mistaking a draft horse for a goat.

They don't know what they are talking about or what we are doing or why, and they are not bothering to learn. Educate them if you can. Ignore them and move on if you can't.
