

Freedom is as Close, or as Far, as Original Jurisdiction

By Anna Von Reitz

Yesterday, I exposed the yawning gap between the sovereign governments of the world --- and the living people --- and the corporate "governments" of the "Confederate States" which are in fact for-profit business organizations operating as "States-of-States".

For example, here in America, we have Wisconsin, the Territorial State of Wisconsin, and the Municipal STATE OF WISCONSIN, all operating at once.

One of these three entities is the actual State--- Wisconsin, owned and operated by the sovereign and independent government of the people who live in Wisconsin. This State is physically defined. It has borders.

The other two entities, the State of Wisconsin and the STATE OF WISCONSIN, both, are foreign incorporated businesses. They are "Confederate States" --- not actual States. As business organizations, they don't have borders or any physical attributes at all.

The people of Wisconsin hold the national soil jurisdiction of Wisconsin as a population of living men and women, but when they choose to enter international jurisdiction, these same people function as People. People are Lawful Persons standing on the international land jurisdiction of their State--Wisconsin.

In international jurisdiction, the Government of Wisconsin, is provided by State Citizens, people functioning as People --- Lawful Persons who have a singular political allegiance to their State of the Union.

When people talk about "Original Jurisdiction" they are talking about your actual State and its plenary powers as a sovereign entity and your standing on the land and soil of Wisconsin. The only things abridging the sovereign powers of Wisconsin are: (1) the Federal Constitutions and their associated delegations of power; (2) whatever provisions the People of Wisconsin have made and published as Wisconsin Public Laws.

As a Wisconsinite, you are free except for those few constraints.

And the same is true of every other State.

As a Wisconsinite standing in Original Jurisdiction, you are not subject to the corporate policies, statutes, regulations, and codes of any State of State organization, rather, they are subject to your Public Laws and to the Federal Constitutions.

You are their Employer and they are your Employees.

So when a State of State Governor, for example, Governor Jay Inslee, of the State of Washington, makes a "proclamation" or issues a "mask mandate" or a "mandatory vaccination order" or "business lockdown" ---- it only applies to you, if you are operating as a State of State Employee or Dependent, or are operating your business as an incorporated business "in" the State of Washington.

If you are a Washingtonian operating your own business as an unincorporated entity in Washington (the actual State), they don't have a word to say to you. Why? Because you are in Original Jurisdiction. And they're not.

This was not always true in the Western States, but it is, now, because the pre-Civil War State Assemblies have finally enrolled all the States as States of the Union as of midnight September 30 - October 1, 2020.

"Residing" in a State of State status is a big problem for people who have foolishly incorporated their businesses without full disclosure being provided to them, but not a problem for you or your State Assembly.

You can, for example, simply issue a new Washington Public Law offering Amnesty to all Foreign Corporations, provided that they contract to function lawfully and cause no injury to living people or private property in your State of the Union.

This allows the good corporations to migrate and lawfully convert their assets and charters back to the actual State of the Union, and to come under the protection of Original Jurisdiction. This is called "lawful conversion" and should be made available in every State of the Union.

You can help everyone else resolve everything about this present situation, simply by joining your State Assembly and issuing such much-needed Public Laws for your State of the Union. For example, your State Assembly can outlaw forced vaccinations on your State soil. You don't "legislate" this, the State Assembly composed of State Citizens, declares it as Wisconsin Public Law (or whichever State) and publishes it, so that all the foreigners, including their foreign State-of-State corporations are given Notice.

You can join with the other State Assemblies, and if the State Assemblies support the initiative, you can use your Federation of States, The United States of America, to issue a true "Federal" Law outlawing forced vaccinations anywhere in America.

Your Federation of States is the source of the adjective "Federal".

Your Federation existed and was "Federal" long before any of the Federal Subcontractors even existed. That's why it is "original".

In Original Jurisdiction, a "Federal Law" means that the actual States and People of this country joined together to issue a Federal Public Law, in international jurisdiction.

It does not refer to any United States Statute-at-Large, which is legislative law. It doesn't refer to any "Federal" Policy or Code issued by the Municipal or Territorial Governments, either.

A Federal Law issued in Original Jurisdiction is a true "Organic Law" -- a form of Treaty Law among the States of the Federation.

We can do this today just as our Great-Grandfathers did, but it is ours to do. Nobody can do it for us.

So instead of sitting around and being worried and not knowing what to do----- go to: www.TheAmericanStatesAssembly.net---and get organized to take such meaningful actions.

The American States that are organized under this heading have their proper declarations recorded and have the standing to take such actions as outlawing forced vaccinations within their State borders.

These, the actual States, also have the power to liquidate any corporation operating "unlawfully" in their State of the Union --- which includes any corporation (of any kind) that is causing injury to people, animals, or the Earth resources of the actual State.

This is your power over the Territorial Government and over the Municipal GOVERNMENT, too, which you have not been exercising, and which needs to be exercised to prevent these business organizations from pillaging, plundering, and waging "mercenary war" on our shores. Simply by recognizing the fact that you are not a public employee nor a public dependent, and taking the simple steps to record your correct political identity and joining your State Assembly, you protect yourself, your family, and your country.

Do it now, and know that all the drama taking place about the elections, is not our problem.

Those are all private corporate elections masquerading as Public Elections (for which "Public"?) and the corporations responsible will have to sort out their differences without harming us.

You, meanwhile, are needed to sort out the rampant criminality of the corporations that have been running things in your purported absence.
