

Notice the Sequence of Things

By Anna Von Reitz

Those who have profited themselves at our expense have done so using a very ancient form of law— Roman Civil Law.

They have subjected each one of us individually to their foreign and ancient law by “conveying” our names into their jurisdiction via a process of multiple registrations.

So we start out as babies on the land and soil of our country and then are conveyed successively into Territorial Jurisdiction under the Law of the Sea, and then into Municipal Jurisdiction under Roman Civil Law.

Think of this as moving from Point A to Point B to Point C.

Unknown to us or our parents we were trafficked off our native land and soil (Point A) and transported to the foreign jurisdiction of the sea (Point B) and from there transported to the jurisdiction of Municipal Government (Point C).

We have to start out at C, move back to B and from B move the rest of the way to A.

There is a process and steps and procedures that have been employed to traffic us from land to sea to air, and there is a process to convey us from air to sea to land again.

And it is one more step from the land to the soil.

Success in unraveling the mess depends on us deconstructing the process that put us at Point C and doing it step by step— backwards to Point A.

What they did to us in transporting us off the land and soil is a crime known as unlawful conversion and they followed that with another crime known as impersonation—which is a form of identity theft that allowed them to access our credit.

Unwinding it requires careful and knowing action on our parts. If we try to go directly from Point C to Point A we quickly find that we “can’t get there from here”.

If you want to think of it in terms of political units, you start out on a county in a State of the Union, get shanghaied and transported out on the High Seas, and from there, you are sold as a slave to a foreign Municipal Government.

The only way home is to travel overseas again.

People get confused about “where they are” as a result of being moved around like this and many assume that they can take one step back and be home again, but it is more complex than that.

You come back the way you came.

You “lawfully convert” the Municipal PERSON back to being a Territorial Person on the High Seas, and from there you can step back on the land (State) and from State level you can step back on the soil— the County level.

I am pointing this out because you have to return by the same path you left, and too many people think there is a short cut.

You have to come back home by moving from State to County, because, as a baby, you were moved from County to State.

“As a thing is bound, so it is unbound.”

Now that you know how you were bound, you are in a position to untie the knots and keep them untied.
