

Symbols, Icons, and Keylons

By Anna Von Reitz

Ever go to a baseball game and noticed the hand signals passing back and forth between the pitcher and the catcher? And often, the other players as well? How about football? Seen those signals, too?

Okay, so, have you gone to a courtroom and watched the attorneys passing signals back and forth among themselves and with the judge? Same thing.

And if you are alert, you have long seen the same use of hand signals going on in the media and among the politicians, too --- for example, FDR's famous "V" for "Victory".

But is it a "V" for "Victory" or is it a "V" for something else?

It's actually a very ancient hand signal of the followers of "the Horned God" --- Baphomet.

It takes discernment to know if someone is using it innocently to denote "Victory" in some struggle, or if they are an initiate in the Kingdom of Liars connecting to and asking for the support of other initiates.

In the same way, a crucifix has a double meaning and discernment is necessary.

A crucifix can be a constant reminder of what Jesus suffered ---- a symbol calling us to repent our sins.... or.....it can be a gloating remembrance of how Baphomet "triumphed" over his body, mocked him, and inflicted cruelty and pain on one who was blameless.

While a "V" for "Victory" is a temporary symbol that is here and gone like a flag signal, an "icon" -- a symbol made physical -- like the flag itself, is much more permanent.

We are surrounded by such symbols that have acquired double meanings.

Is it the Statue of Liberty? Or an idol honoring a venal and foreign goddess named by various names: Semiramis, Ashtoreth, Astarte, Ashtar, Isis, Cybele, Sybil, and..... Columbia? As in District of Columbia?

The phenomenon of "Q" is an example of a countering symbol, raised against the Corporatists.

The followers of Baphomet have always been Corporatists. They change living bodies into dead bodies ---- Corps. Get it?

That's why they play games with legal terms like "natural person" in Probate Court, to mean "corpse".

The only power that Baphomet (whatever you want to call the Devil) has, is the power to destroy, murder, deflower, and defame. These people take life, but can't give it back. In that sense, they are thieves.

And all their works are crimes, all based on lies and illusions and delusions of one kind or another.

So it behooves us to see how these criminals do what they do on a larger scale, to observe how they get people focused on negative things, how they distract people from what is important in every situation, how they twist our emotions by feeding us bad information, and overall, how they impersonate what is living and seek to substitute what is dead.

It also behooves us to seek the truth within ourselves, to face our struggle to recognize what is true and what is false, to discipline our imaginations and guard them against manipulation, and to be vigilant guardians of life -- all life.

What appears to be physical substance in this world is actually composed of the symbols, the keylons, which includes numbers and letters, that project and order our perceptions.

Those perceptions become thoughts, the thoughts translate to emotions, and the emotions become actions.

You perceive smoke coming from the edge of your jacket cuff. You think: "My coat sleeve caught fire!" So you are immediately alarmed and fearful of injury. This prompts you to take quick action to put the fire out, either by smothering it or splashing it with water.

Perception becomes thought, thought becomes emotion, emotion becomes action.

At every step, you must be receiving and properly processing true information, or you wind up thinking wrong thoughts, feeling wrong emotions, or taking inappropriate action.

What if what appears to be a smoking coat sleeve isn't smoking? What if the "smoke" is fog instead? What if it isn't coming from your coat sleeve?

You see the problem. It's easy for these fraud artists to feed you bad information or set up illusions that you fall victim to.

Like the illusion that the "Governor" of the "Commonwealth of Virginia" is The Governor of The State of Virginia, for example.

You have to maintain clarity and be sharply observant, but this can be difficult to do, when you have spent a lifetime without such focus.

Begin by trying to clear your mind like erasing a chalkboard.

It's extraordinarily difficult for most people to do and maintain for more than a second or two at first, but try. As you keep trying to "quiet your mind" you will be able to stay in this empty state of awareness for longer periods of time, and use it as a place both to rest and to observe without judgement.

You will discover that you can be aware without words or numbers -- simply aware and taking in the view. And in this restful state of awareness, you will know what is true, because you can bypass the jumbled up true and false symbols, icons, and keylons the same way that water bypasses a maze of rocks.

See this article and over 2200 others on Anna's website here: www.annavonreitz.com

To support this work look for the PayPal buttons on this website.