

What Did They Do?

By Anna Von Reitz

Yesterday, I posed a very important question to all of you --- where did the Tories, the British Sympathizers --- go? What happened to them after the Revolutionary War ended?

And for that matter, what happened to their Papist friends, who also opposed The War of Independence?

We should note that the British and the Papists both came here like everyone else, to colonize the New World, partially for the benefit of their respective King and/or Pontiff.

When the Brits came ashore in New England, they didn't cobble together their own personal flags and stab them in the ground and declare, "I claim this land in the name of Louis Furtwangler of Sussex!" And when the Papists came ashore in Maryland and Delaware, they didn't do anything like that, either. They staked out their claims in the name of their Pope and Church and its theocracy as their government.

It was, after all, all up for grabs, so far as the European Monarchs and the Popes saw it at the time. Whoever "discovered" it under The Doctrine of Discovery, was the rightful owner in their view, and though the Church finally corrected their error and renounced The Doctrine of Discovery, it was the basis of virtually all claims in the New World for decades.

So that is how the Brits and the Papists both came here and settled large parts of the Eastern Seaboard as loyal Subjects of the King and the Pope, respectively.

After The War of Independence, the well-being and future of both groups-- the Tories loyal to the King and the Papists loyal to the Pope -- were provided for as part of the peace settlement. Everyone would be allowed to keep their "personal" property -- their business interests, intact.

Everyone could maintain their political allegiances, too.

Tories could choose to remain loyal Subjects of the King by adopting Territorial Citizenship as a U.S. Citizen.

Papists could choose to remain loyal Subjects of their Pontiff by adopting the status of Municipal "citizens of the United States".

Both these large and well-represented groups would be tolerated by the new American Government as foreign citizens called "inhabitants" and "residents" allowed to be here for the purpose of providing "essential government services" -----services that were firmly established and contractually agreed upon via the constitutions adopted in 1789 and 1790, respectively. So, from the first, both the Tory Loyalists and the Papists, were protected, kept all their property assets except that their land was held under title as real estate and not really theirs, and a substantial portion of them were hired right off the bat to provide "essential government services" ---- which gave them a catbird seat position to mess with us. Which they have done for over 200 years.

Most of them probably don't even remember why.

In answer to "what they did?" --- they became professional bureaucrats in charge of the various aspects of providing services to our fledgling government.

The Tories loyal to the King ensconced themselves in our port cities and got heavily involved in administering "customs houses", taxes, tariffs, trade agreements, and also administering the United States Navy on the High Seas and Navigable Inland Waterways, and all the Maritime and Admiralty Courts. Through their position as our Trustees on the High Seas and Navigable Inland Waterways, they also gained control of the US Marine Corps and overall influence over our military operations, services, and suppliers. Last but not least, they privately became dealers in arms, currencies, tobacco, alcohol and any other contraband "federally regulated" goods.

The Papists loyal to their Pontiff entrenched as what we know today as the Federal Civil Service, and began the build-up of the Agency System we know today as "the Alphabet Soups" --- which are all subcontractors of our Subcontractors, layered up so that the Papists don't have any work to do and no accountability, either. Think of Nancy Pelosi on her velvet tuffette.

So this is where they came from, this is where they went, and this is what they have done, and you can all now see how we have been infested with undeclared Foreign Agents since Day One.

"All enemies foreign and domestic...."

Most of these people think of themselves as Americans and consider themselves as loyal to this country as anyone else, but that ignores the entire history of these "federal" government organizations and their administration, which is still British and still Papist, respectively. These two groups have fought each other from time to time, most particularly during the so-called American Civil War, but then as now, their "apparent" animosity is a facade. Both the British Territorial Government and the Municipal Government are ultimately owned and operated by the Pope.

The Pope directs the Queen, because she is his Commonwealth Overseer. And that is the position from which she derives her wealth and all her claims to own and control "real estate" belonging to her loyal Subjects.

And perhaps about now, you are all noticing that your lawful land patents have been quietly converted into "real estate" titles and municipal "land descriptions".

This has been presumed as part of the legal presumptions established against you and your Person, to the effect that you are a Federal Citizen, and not an American. You have been mistaken as both a Loyal Subject of HRM, and as a Municipal citizen of the United States, Subject to the Roman Pontiff.

As a result, all your assets including your Given Name have been seized upon, registered as property belonging to the Queen and the Pope, and you have been reduced to the level of a British Subject serving as an Indentured Servant of the Crown, and/or a willing Municipal slave, whose labor and all assets are thought to be donated to the Church.

This is what these people have done to themselves and to you, whether or not they know what they are doing.

There's just one problem for them, for their Queen, and for their Pontiff: what they've done here is massively and internationally criminal. They have enslaved and suborned and stolen the assets of the people and the States of this entire country via identity theft and personation schemes.

They have colluded and conspired against and evaded their constitutional obligations. They have acted in Gross Breach of Trust and violation of their Commercial Service Contracts. They have violated the Geneva Conventions, the Hague Conventions, their own Universal Declaration of Human Rights, and the Nuremberg Code, hands down.

And they continue to do so, despite the fact that, as Americans, we are their Employers and we are owed every jot of the respective Constitutions, including their Good Faith Service.

We are now engaged in addressing these facts -- as Americans who have declared their birthright political status.

Go to: www.TheAmericanStatesAssembly.net to find out more.

See this article and over 2700 others on Anna's website here: www.annavonreitz.com

To support this work look for the PayPal buttons on this website.