

What Isn't There

By Anna Von Reitz

Remember how I told you that half of the research process (at least) is based on negative results? The search for things that should be there, but aren't?

Like a formal Declaration of War from the Congress at the start of the so-called American Civil War?

Like a formal Peace Treaty ending the same?

Well, this same principle applies throughout all investigative work, and in the case of so-called "Covid 19" there's the telltale fact that no such virus has been isolated and identified.

What the....?

I am not even sure who I am quoting here, but it was such a perfect stream of questions applied to this fact, I can't resist re-posting and thank both Cathy C. and Kari Stevens in advance:

"Health Canada thanks to the Freedom of Information Act (Kari Stevens): COVID-19 and it's testing is officially a complete fraud. Health Canada response file: A-2020-000208 / BH under the Access to Information Act R.S.C. says that Health Canada has no record describing the isolation of any Covid-19 virus.

This means that 'COVID-19 has not been isolated' - which means that all COVID-19 response is fraudulent, Covid-19 testing is fraud, media hype is just propoganda and the daily press briefings by the Health Officers is fraudulent.

If the virus has not been isolated then what are they testing for?

What are they pretending to diagnose?

What are they pretending to cure?

What are they making a vaccine for?

What are they pretending to prevent through mandatory masks?

Anyone still trying to say its a 'conspiracy theory' here is the original letter pdf for download to scrutinize:

End quote.

Isn't that absolutely beautiful?
