

Who Owns the Philippines?

By Anna Von Reitz

We do.

Of course, the people have their own government, like any other Territorial State of the Union, but in point of fact, we bought the Philippine Island land mass from Spain in exactly the same way that we bought the Louisiana Purchase.

And as long as we, The United States of America [Unincorporated] are the lawful government of the Sovereign States and People operating in international jurisdiction, we might as well also inform the world-at-large that we own virtually all the Territorial and Municipal Governments on Earth, whether they are bankrupt or not --- and we hold them as their Priority Creditor.

As you think about this a little further, you will see that because we own the Territorial and Municipal Government Corporations we also own all the C-Corps, S-Corps, Foundations, Cooperatives, Trusts, LLC's, PC's, etc., that have been chartered and registered under these Territorial and Municipal business structures.

We own 185,000 Territorial and Municipal Government Corporations in the U.S. alone.

All of this is ours in the plain and simple sense of commercial ownership of chattel assets, because all of it has been created via the exercise of our abused Delegated Powers, which have now returned to us by Operation of Law.

This does not mean that we want to keep it all or that we wish to exercise any oppressive political control over any other nation. What it does mean is that while the British Territorial United States is bankrupt (to us) and the Roman Municipal UNITED STATES is bankrupt (to us), The United States of America [Unincorporated] is not bankrupt.

Instead, virtually all the rest of the world (with the exception of Iran, North Korea, the Holy See and a few Pacific Island Kingdoms) are in debt to us.

We are in full control of our assets and enabled to dispose of all international debts owed to us. Thanks to all the crazy history that we have exposed and the resulting confusions regarding which "United States" and which "United States of America" one is talking about at any given time, these facts have been somewhat obscured, but they remain the facts just the same.

We own it all and the Queen and the Pope are no longer delegated the authority to exercise our interest in these assets "for" us. Before everyone has a heart attack thinking that this is a bad thing, consider that it is in fact a very good thing. Why?

Because the Evil Geniuses that created this System of cradle-to-grave enslavement have been displaced by the operation of their own commercial Rule of Law, and instead of the UN Corp owning everything and everyone, and instead of the Swiss BEAST system keeping title to everything, all that is overturned.

It's all back in the hands of living people again, back in the hands of actual countries. And the actual Americans are not the greedy, nasty, immoral, war-crazed animals that the British Territorial United States portrayed to the rest of the world.

It's just us, Ma and Pa, back on the farm. Good neighbors, generous to a fault. If anything, everyone should be sighing a great big sigh of relief and calming down. The specter of being ruled by heartless, faceless, nameless corporations and living in a computer operated hive society under One World Government is in the rear view mirror.
